All urged to cut drain on energy

Statewide natural gas emergency declared

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has declared an energy emergency and asked the state's 11 million citizens to observe 65-degree thermostat settings to try to alleviate a crucial natural gas shortage.

At the same time Sunday, leaders of the General Assembly pledged their cooperation and scheduled a special session for Tuesday to consider any legislation Rhodes may feel is necessary.

Ohio is reeling under continued arctic conditions which stretched natural gas supplies beyond their limit, forced widespread school and industry shutdowns, and now are believed a threat to health and safety.

Rhodes' action Sunday, after a two-day series of hastily called weekend meetings with fuel industry spokesmen, labor, business, and government officials, stopped short of what some wanted—the declaration of an energy crisis.

The state's Energy Research and Development Agency (ERDA), at another special meeting Sunday, advocated the more serious designation, saying it would give the governor authority to mandate energy controls, not just ask for cooperation.

However, at a late Sunday news conference, Rhodes pointed out, and legislative leaders agreed, that the law enabling him to declare a crisis contained no enforcement or penalty tools.

All the testimony at the series of Saturday and Sunday hearings, he said, indicated that the only area in which Ohio can make further substantial gas savings is residential.

He said the state has no way to determine who is violating a mandated, 65-degree thermostat, and that while he might want to try something more drastic later, "we've got to give the people the chance to cooperate."

Rhodes said he is asking the news media to help the campaign for voluntary conservation, and that he either will make a televised appeal himself or ask Ohio's clergymen to join in such an effort.

The 67-year-old governor clearly was perplexed with lawyers around him debating what can be done or cannot be done under a 1974 energy law, which so far has done little but confuse.

"I don't care if it is a crisis, an emergency, or a catastrophe—it's all the same. We have to do what we can, and now, not next year," he declared.

Rhodes' pitch for voluntary controls asks residential natural gas users to observe 65-degree settings in daytime and 55 degrees at night, to close off unused rooms, utilize fireplaces where possible and reduce thermostats to 45 for vacations.

For shops, stores, and other business places, including offices, he is asking the same temperature controls and adding a request to turn off hot water in rest rooms. Schools, which would have been forced to close for 30 days under ERDA's recommendation for mandatory controls, are asked by the governor to observe 65-degree temperatures.

Many schools around the state have closed voluntarily since the crunch began. A manufacturers' spokesman estimated Sunday that about 25,000-30,000 factory workers have been sent home, and predicted the figure will reach 100,000 by Feb. 1 when further major industrial gas curtailments are planned.

House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, and Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocacek, D-27 Akron, appeared with the governor to announce the special session of the legislature, which was to have been in recess until Feb. 1.

Ocacek said the special session was called so that the lawmakers "will be prepared to act immediately in the light of Ohio's present energy situation."

Rhodes' declaration of an energy emergency was in the same form as one he issued Thursday for the 24-county area served by the Dayton Power & Light Co. This time, however, the order applies statewide.

Rhodes made no requests for schools to close, at least for the time being, and no mention was made to limiting business operations throughout the state to 40 hours a week. The state energy agency, in Rhodes' absence last week, sought to shut down schools and restrict business operations in Dayton only to learn it lacked the authority.

Rhodes said he is asking the Ohio National Guard, along with the state's mayors, to be ready to deal with "human and logistics emergencies," such as disruptions in fuel supplies.

The governor announced the formation of an energy emergency management committee in the development department, consisting of representatives from all segments of Ohio society who are affected by the fuel crunch. He said he is asking President Carter to allocate more natural gas and alternate fuels to the state.

The governor's action came only a few hours after a morning meeting of ERDA at which its members agreed without dissent to ask the governor to declare an energy crisis.

However, the members had delayed a formal vote until later in the day to let them decide whether to include fuels other than natural gas in their recommendation.

Rhodes, who had slapped the agency on the wrist late in the week for attempting to impose mandatory controls in Dayton, denied he was ignoring ERDA. "I welcome their recommendations, they do a good job," he said.

BECAUSE of the reappraisal of Fayette County property, tax bills will not be mailed until late February.

Fayette County Treasurer Harold Hise said he received approval today for an extension on payment. The bills will not be due until March 30.

IN AN effort to cooperate with the voluntary natural gas conservation program in the community, the Carnegie Public Library will curtail its hours from the present 64 per week to 40 beginning today.

Eric Halverson, library director, said the revised hours of operation will be 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday and Tuesday; 12 noon to 9 p.m. on Wednesday, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

new library hours will parallel the hours adopted by most of the stores in the downtown business district and will provide library patrons the opportunity of combining library and shopping trips.

The Fayette County bookmobile will operate on its regular schedule on Thursday.

Businesses cutting hours

Action taken Saturday by local merchants makes the Washington C.H. area a leader in the drive to conserve energy.

Nearly 100 owners and managers of area businesses voted overwhelmingly to restrict their store hours to 40 per week to reduce the consumption of natural gas and electricity.

Although Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes apparently does not have the authority to order school or store closings, he has asked that this be done on a voluntary basis wherever possible. The action taken by local retailers is thought to be the first communitywide effort to curtail store hours in the state.

The meeting was chaired by Shirley Fenter, manager of the Sears and Roebuck Co. store and president of the Retail Merchants Association. Almost without exception, store owners agreed to curtail hours. The vast majority will operate 40 hours or less each week.

To area shoppers, the action will mean few items can be obtained prior to 11 a.m. Most stores will open between 11 a.m. and noon daily. Although each store will determine its own hours of operation, stores will generally remain open from late morning until 5 p.m.

The majority of downtown retailers will open at 11 a.m. and remain open until 5 p.m., five days per week. They will be open until 8 p.m. on Friday. Some stores which preferred to open some evenings during the week will open at 11:30 a.m. daily.

Many stores in the Washington Square Shopping Center will open at 12 noon daily, but will also be open from 12 noon until 5 p.m. Sunday. Most stores which have been open on Sundays have adopted this schedule or a similar one. They too will be open until 8 p.m. on Fridays.

President also seeks A-test halt

Carter seeks arms sales curb

By FRANK CORMIER
and

LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is calling for a halt to all nuclear testing, "instantly and completely," as part of a broader program to curb the spread of nuclear weapons and ultimately ban them from the earth.

In his first interview as President, conducted Sunday for publication today, Carter acknowledged that he did not know whether the Soviet Union would agree to his proposal for a quick halt that would stop even underground testing. But, he said, "They have sent an encouraging message back."

The fledgling President, meeting in his Oval Office with four reporters for The Associated Press and United Press International, also expressed optimism that there will be "fairly rapid ratification" of a new strategic arms limitation treaty with the Soviets.

And he said his National Security Council is in agreement on the need to reduce overseas sales of American-made weapons, but that he does not anticipate a "moratorium" on such sales.

On strategic arms talks, Carter hinted that he might be willing to bypass for later consideration a long-standing East-West debate over how to deal with the U.S. cruise missile and Soviet backfire bomber in any new strategic arms pact. He declared: "I would not let those two items stand in the way of some agreement."

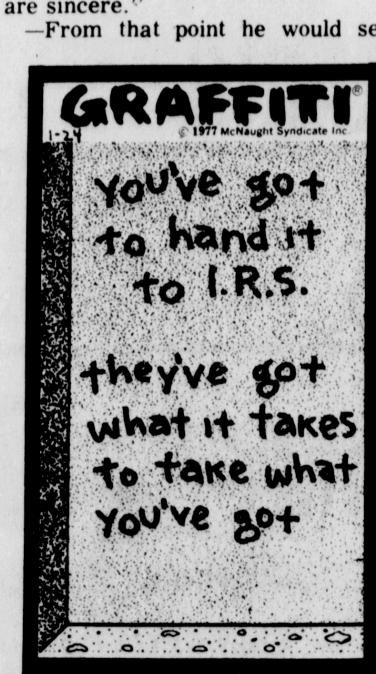

Asserting that he "very deeply" meant what he said in his inaugural address about ultimately eliminating all nuclear weapons everywhere, Carter, in his most detailed national security-foreign policy statement to date, envisioned a three-step effort aiming toward that end.

First, he said, the two superpowers would have to "put firm limits on ourselves" as the objective of a new Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty (SALT).

Then the United States and the Soviet Union would go a step further and actually reduce their own stockpiles of atomic weapons which would, he said, "demonstrate to the world we are sincere."

From that point he would seek

"reductions including all nations, even those who have a relatively small inventory now."

"I would like to proceed quickly and aggressively with a comprehensive test ban treaty," he said. "I am in favor of eliminating the testing of all nuclear devices, instantly and completely." He said this included underground testing as well.

And the President said, the United States will use "every means available to us" to keep nuclear arms from spreading to countries that do not have them now.

Carter's apparent optimism about prospects for negotiations with the Soviets was matched by an expression of confidence that a Middle East peace conference is "very likely this year."

Asked if he would approve Palestinian representation at such a meeting, the President said the matter has not been decided but that Palestinian participation "would probably be as part of one of the Arab delegations."

In a relaxed mood, Carter spoke softly, discussing these other topics, ranging from personnel problems to a self-confessed awe at finding himself living in the home of presidential giants of history:

"feel quite at ease about the percentage of blacks" named to high administration posts, he said, but declared, "I wish that we could get more women, in particular, in the top levels of government."

He expressed no surprise at the reaction both for and against his adding that he expected to receive ERDA's regulations on Monday. Later, ERDA Chairman William Ferguson said he did not know if the agency would meet again before Tuesday.

It wanted not only that a crisis be declared, but also to mandate 30-day school closings statewide; restrict businesses to 40 hours a week, and require all thermostats on 65-degree settings even though ERDA admitted they couldn't be enforced.

Rhodes' meetings on Sunday were with spokesmen for the propane and fuel oil industry, including those of Sohio, Ashland Oil, Shell Oil, Union Oil Co., Marathon, and Gulf Oil Co., all of whom said generally they are taking care of present customers but do have severe delivery problems and could not absorb more business.

The governor also heard problems, more of a long range nature, of the state's independent oil and gas drillers. He planned to meet today with electric utility spokesmen with regard to environmental restrictions on the industrial use of Ohio's high sulfur coal, a related and just as important a problem, Rhodes said.

How long remains question

Students in class

Students in the Washington C.H. and Miami Trace school districts were in class today. But just how long they will be there remains to be seen.

Schools in the 24-county area served by the Dayton Power and Light Co. had been faced with the possibility of a state-ordered 30-day closure.

But, Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes Sunday opted to declare a statewide energy emergency, not a crisis. However, Rhodes made no requests for schools to close, at least for the time being.

The two local school districts are remaining open pending action by the Ohio General Assembly.

A special session of the Ohio legislature will convene on Tuesday to deal with whatever emergency laws may be needed to deal with the energy crisis. The legislature was not scheduled to convene until Feb. 1.

"We're still faced with the possibility of a shutdown, but I'm guessing it will be mid-week before the legislature acts to put teeth into the governor's emergency declaration," said Guy M. Foster, superintendent of the Miami Trace School District.

The Washington C.H. Board of Education is scheduled to meet at 7:30 p.m. tonight and the natural gas crisis is expected to be the prime topic of discussion.

The school districts have not received any formal instruction from the state level on the possibility of closing.

Meanwhile, officials in the Miami Trace School District are considering two proposals for two of the district's four buildings which are heated with natural gas.

Foster said it has been proposed to close the gymnasium at Bloomingburg Elementary School and an annex housing two classrooms at New Holland Elementary School.

District administrators were scheduled to consider the two proposals in a meeting at 4:30 p.m. today with the principals of the two elementary schools.

Foster said other voluntary moves to reduce natural gas consumption are being considered. Jeffersonville and Staunton elementary schools are also heated with natural gas.

Against local union

Labor practice charge filed in DP&L strike

DAYTON, Ohio — An unfair labor practice charge has been filed by the Dayton Power and Light Co. with the National Labor Relations Board in Cincinnati.

William Miller, director of the industrial relations department of the Dayton Power and Light Co., said the charge was filed against the Utility Workers Union of American Local No. 175 as a result of the action by the union in threatening to fine employees of the Dayton Power and Light Co., who have refused to participate in the strike called by the local union and who have resigned their membership in the union and returned to work.

The charge was filed with Emil Farkas, regional director of the National Labor Relations Board.

Miller stated that it is his understanding that the National Labor Relations Act protects and permits employees who do not want to engage in a strike and who resign their membership in a union to return to work during a strike.

According to Miller, many employees of the Dayton Power and Light Co. have resigned from the union and have expressed a desire to return to work. He stated that he believed that the action by the union "was intended to do nothing more than frighten employees into not returning to work despite the current emergency situation."

Miller said he asked the National Labor Relations Board to take immediate action to remedy the "illegal action by the union so that employees of the Dayton Power and Light Co. would be assured that if they desire to return to work they could resign from the union at any time before they return to work and could then legally return to work without running the risk of being fined."

Some 2,200 employees of the Dayton Power and Light Co. have been on strike since Monday, Jan. 10.

Transportation problems hit returning MT pupils

The Miami Trace School District experienced a "difficult morning" today as a cold front added more than an inch of snow to what's already on the ground.

Meanwhile, travel advisories were in effect today for southern and central Ohio, with accumulations of two to three inches of snow expected in southern sections of the state.

"We struggled a little bit today with our transportation," said Guy M. Foster, superintendent of the Miami Trace School District.

Three buses on the Miami Trace High School routes experienced difficulties on snow-covered county roads and were unable to complete their routes.

Foster said there were no serious accidents. Wreckers were summoned to assist and high school students aboard were transferred to other school buses.

Several of the district's school buses were running 20 to 30 minutes behind schedule.

"It was a difficult morning, but the parents and kids were quite cooperative," Foster said.

The Miami Trace School District has been closed since Jan. 6 due to weather conditions and in an effort to conserve on natural gas.

Deaths, Funerals

Miss Florence Purcell

Miss Florence Purcell, 84, of 58 West St., Bloomingburg, a retired registered nurse, died at 4:15 a.m. Monday in Fayette County Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient three weeks. She had been ill the past month.

A graduate of the White Cross Hospital School of Nursing, she was a 25-year supervisor of obstetrics at White Cross Hospital, Columbus, a member of the Fayette County Professional Nurses Association, Ohio State Professional Nurses Association, a member and past president of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, member of the Bloomingburg United Methodist Church and the Friendship Circle Class. United Methodist Women, Bloomingburg Homemakers, and the American Legion Auxiliary of Paul H. Hughey Post 25. She was born in Pickaway County, but had resided in the Bloomingburg area her entire life.

Surviving are two brothers, Roy and William J. Purcell, both of Bloomingburg; two nieces, Mrs. Rex (Donna) Bloomer of Bloomingburg, and Mrs. Robert (Juanita) Moyer of Wilmington; a cousin whom her parents raised in their home, Mrs. Howard (Sarah) Bogard of Dayton; other cousins in Springfield; and many great-nieces and nephews. A brother, Edgar Purcell, preceded her in death.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, Washington C.H., with the Rev. Gerald Wheat officiating. Burial will be in Bloomingburg Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Bertha Leach

SABINA — Mrs. Bertha Leach 77, of Dayton, died Sunday in the Eaton Care Center.

Born in Brown County, Mrs. Leach spent most of her life in Dayton and Reesville. She was a member of the Macon Church of Christ. Her husband, Joseph Leach, died in 1942.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Bernard (Beulah) Huffman, 428 Warren Ave., Washington C.H., and Mrs. Carl (Thelma) Seely, of New Lebanon; a son, Elmer Leach, of Miamisburg; 10 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Doris Leach, Umatilla, Fla., and Mrs. Ruby Jenks, of Lakeview, Ohio; and a brother, Leonard Mock, Melbourne, Fla.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Littleton Funeral Home, Sabina. Burial will be in Sabina Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 3 until 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. James O. Stewart

MOUNT STERLING — Mrs. Ruby F. Stewart, 73, wife of James O. Stewart, of Rt. 1, Mount Sterling, died Sunday in University Hospital, Columbus.

Mrs. Stewart was a member of the Mount Sterling First Methodist Church.

Surviving besides her husband, is a stepson, Garfield A. Stewart of Westerville; three brothers, Earl V. Clark, Orville O. Clark and Omer L. Clark, all of Clarks Lake, Rt. 3, Orient; and several nieces and nephews.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Porter Funeral Home, Mount Sterling, with the Rev. Ralph Ritts officiating. Burial will be in Jackson Township Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home anytime Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Palmer, the widow of Pearl Palmer, died Thursday.

Mrs. Walter Stackhouse was the organist for the services and pallbearers for the burial in Milledgeville-Plymouth Cemetery were Ray Hopps, Max, Russell and Neil Hughes, Jack Pursley and John Kinigery.

LAFAYETTE MOORE — Services for Lafayette (Lafe) Moore, 529 Harrison St., were held at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Stan Toler officiating.

Mr. Moore, a retired farmer, died Wednesday.

Sonny Walters sang a hymn accompanied by Terry Toler at the piano. The flag which draped the casket of the World War II U.S. Army veteran, was folded by Henry Litz and Ned Kinzer of the Paul H. Hughey Post, American Legion, and presented to a half-brother, Henry Parker.

Pallbearers for the burial in Green Summit Cemetery, Adelphi, were Jake Disbennet, Ron, Donald, Charles, Jim and Dick Parker, Berman Danner and Robert Kneech.

Before the City of Bellefontaine in Logan County was occupied by white men, a Shawnee Indian Village called Blue Jacket's Town stood on the site. Blue Jacket was a white man named Marmaduke Swearingen who was captured by the Shawnee when he was 17 and brought to Ohio, the Indians calling him Blue Jacket after a blue hunting jacket he wore. Blue Jacket became a famed leader of the Shawnees and played an active part in the strife between the Indians and whites.—AP

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Dayton Power and Light Company has filed an application with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, requesting authority to amend its interim gas curtailment plan. Specifically, the Dayton Power and Light Company has requested authority to terminate service to all load loads with alternate fuel capability presently installed, when the company's non-domestic customers have been curtailed 25% and further load reduction is required. The Commission will conduct a public hearing on this matter on Tuesday, February 8, 1977, at 10 a.m. in the office of the Commission, 180 East Broad Street, Columbus, Ohio 43215. At said hearing all interested parties will be afforded an opportunity to present evidence material to the issues of this proceeding. Further information may be obtained by contacting the Commission.

THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION OF OHIO By Randall G. Applegate, Secretary blanket pardon Friday of Vietnam-era draft evaders who were not guilty of violent acts. Carter said: "It is something that should have been done. I was very grateful to be the one to do it."

"Within the next week or two," he said, "I will make my first report to the American people on what we have already achieved and the time schedule for additional proposals."

He defended his "economic stimulus" plan, which could cost as much as $30 billion over two years, and indicated there could be room for some give-and-take with Congress, particularly if economic circumstances should change in the next few months.

But he said if Congress tried to drastically alter what he is proposing "it would delay the beneficial impact of the economic stimulus package and hurt our country."

Some senators and House members have said they want to expand the jobs program Carter favors, but the President contended, "even if substantial amounts of additional money were appropriated for those programs, it would be very difficult to administer them effectively."

Carter disclosed that at his first National Security Council meeting Saturday, members were unanimous in embracing "the necessity for reducing arms sales or having very tight restraints on future commitments" to deliver weapons to other countries.

"I have asked," he said, "that all approvals of arms sales, for a change, be submitted to me directly before the recommendations go to Congress."

The President said Vice President Walter F. Mondale, who is on a globe-circling trip this week, will be asking allies who are heavy arms exporters to join the United States in curbing the arms traffic.

Blaze kills 5 children

JACKSON CENTER, Ohio (AP) — Janet Cowart had to stay with neighbors Sunday night when released from the hospital. Her home was destroyed in a fire earlier in the day that killed five of her seven children. The surviving two remained in intensive care.

Firemen said the blaze that swept through the house about 9 a.m. started under a water heater. Flames quickly blocked the woman's downstairs exit and trapped all of the children upstairs.

The 32-year-old woman, who lived alone with her children, crawled to safety through the bathroom window next to her bedroom. Two children were able to survive because a passerby had a ladder on his truck, firemen said.

Plumber Marvin Rostorfer said he was going to a trouble call when Mrs. Cowart stopped him. "She said her children were trapped in the house. Fire was coming out all over the place," Rostorfer said.

"Neighbors said two kids were standing at one of the upstairs windows," he said.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average posted a 3.40 gain to 962.43, reducing its loss for the week to 9.73 points.

Advances outnumbered declines by about a 5-3 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume came to 23.93 million shares, down from 26.52 million the day before.

The NYSE's composite index rose .22 to 56.15.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .72 at 111.72.

Stocks make small gains

NEW YORK (AP) — A letup in concern over the interest rate outlook helped the stock market move ahead today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose about a point at the outset, and gainers took a 3-2 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

After the NYSE close Friday, the Federal Reserve reported a decline in the basic measure of the money supply.

Analysts said that news eased fears that the Fed might soon tighten up a bit on credit by fostering a rise in short term interest rates.

Another plus was a published report that President Carter's plan for economic stimulus might include an increase in the investment tax credit.

Today's early prices included Westinghouse Electric, up 1/8 at 17 1/8; American Home Products, ahead 3/8 at 28 3/4, and American Airlines, up 1/8 at 14 1/2.

American Airlines reported a $56 million profit for 1976 against a $22.4 million loss in 1975.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average posted a 3.40 gain to 962.43, reducing its loss for the week to 9.73 points.

Advances outnumbered declines by about a 5-3 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume came to 23.93 million shares, down from 26.52 million the day before.

The NYSE's composite index rose .22 to 56.15.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARbutt
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Norman Lear, the sad-faced sitcom king, is a bit harried lately. He's been face-lifting "Mary Hartman" and "A Year at the Top," runs eight other shows and faces a possible Writers Guild strike affecting the entire TV industry on March 1.

That date is when the guild's current industry contract expires, and agreement reached in the summer of 1973 after a 3½-month strike that delayed work on most series scheduled for the 1973-74 season.

But Lear sounded quite calm when asked why he:

— Recently began personally toiling again on the Hartman show, which some critics groused had become a daily downer of "Serious Social commentary with little of its old, wild, spaced-out humor."

— Got CBS' permission to yank his scheduled (for Jan. 19) "Top" comedy about aged performers who get instant youth from the devil in exchange for their souls and a year's show biz success.

"Top," with eight regulars, including Mickey Rooney, "just wasn't very good," candidly admitted Lear, who returned the show to his emporium for revamping and possibly a fresh start in September.

"It was just too complicated. We were trying to tell too many things and consequently nothing was told. And we just did a bad job."

He still believes in the show's concept, but says its revamping will include a reduction in cast size, a move being discussed now.

"In simplifying it, we will lose some characters, but I don't know which ones yet," he said.

Lear, whose syndicated Hartman show got much praise when it began in early 1975, ran afoul of grumblers from critics and letter-writing fans who said it was getting boring. Ratings slumped briefly.

His diagnosis: "It was taking itself too seriously and consequently so was some of the acting."

through a $165,000 grant from the National Institute of Mental Health. Their project will survey the attitudes and behavior of juveniles in three state-supported detention homes and compare them with opinions of teenagers in the Columbus school system.

Since we started the Directory Assistance charge, only about 10% of our customers have been charged.

If you remember these tips, you'll probably never be in that 10% who pay a Directory Assistance charge:

- Look in the book
- There is a monthly allowance of 3 calls to Directory Assistance anywhere in your area code. (There is no charge for calls outside your area code.) Remember, you can get 2 numbers on each Directory Assistance call.
- If a friend or business has moved recently, call the old number. An intercept operator will give you the new number at no extra charge. This service is offered for at least 45 days after a residence customer has moved and 12 months after a business has moved.

If you regularly call unknown numbers in another city within your area code, call our business office. We'll give you the directory for that city, at no charge.

The reason for our new charge is that most of the calls to Directory Assistance are made by a very small part of the public. And most of those calls are for numbers already listed in the telephone directory. The cost of providing this service is enormous, and all of us have shared it in the past.

With the new Directory Assistance charge, those who use the service will pay for it. And that means about 10% of our customers instead of all customers.

Use your directory for assistance and save.

Our land of contrasts

The drama of the weather at this season illustrates as well as anything does the giant scale and diversity of our land. During the winter months the inhabitants of this broad segment of North America occupied by the United States experience an enormous range of temperatures and weather conditions.

Of late this has been graphically demonstrated. While scores of millions in the Midwest and Northeast were contending with heavy snow, below-zero temperatures and savage winds. Southern Californians basked and disputed themselves in summery weather that boosted the mercury into the low 80s.

The contrast is not always so striking. Not even the southernmost states are balmy all the time in winter, and even in the northern-tier states King Boreas occasionally rests on his laurels - or, perhaps in remorse, provides one of those brilliant, glistening, mild winter days that compensate for bitter storms.

Besides, as spring creeps northward the contrast will gradually diminish. Not much more than a couple of months hence there will be vernal intimations - a subtle greening, early flowers, a rising chorus of birdsong - across much of the nation. But for the time being the weather reminds us that ours is a land with a climatic and scenic mix such as few countries can boast.

THESE DAYS....By John Chamberlain

No problem about Alaskan oil?

The worries about getting oil from the Alaskan North Slope to the American Midwest have had a lot of people wrinkling their foreheads. Supposedly the Alaskan production, which will come to 1.2 million barrels a day, will result in a surplus of some 500,000 barrels a day which can't be used on the Pacific Coast.

Our politicians, generally an ornery lot who don't understand economics, are dead set against selling Alaskan oil to Japan in exchange for due bills entitling us to bring in an energy equivalent from OPEC nations to the U.S. East Coast. The pipeline builders are gloomy: they tell us that it will take three or more years to upgrade existing pipelines and to build new ones between California and Middle Western markets.

So what are we to do? Four railroads - the Southern Pacific, the Santa Fe, the Missouri Pacific and the Burlington Northern - tell us that the problem of finding Pacific Coast storage space for a 500,000 barrel daily glut is something we will never have to encounter. The railroads count on the specialized TankTrain, a concept that has been developed by the General American Transportation Corporation, a GATX subsidiary which happens to be the largest U.S. lessor of freight cars, with 52,000 tank cars in its fleet.

The TankTrain, consisting of 90 separate cars, can be loaded or unloaded by a two-man crew in five hours where a conventional train would take 12 men working for 10 hours. Featuring a system of interconnecting hoses, special valves and sensing devices, the TankTrain takes on or discharges 3,000 gallons to the minute. A single conventional pump is all that is needed to move oil from a tanker or barge to and through the TankTrain. The cost of loading and unloading a TankTrain comes to two cents a barrel where it costs some 14 cents to load a conventional tank car in a train without the interconnecting hose system.

The prospect of a fairly easy solution for bringing Alaskan oil to Middle America is just one more reminder that the derided capitalist system - the "incredible bread machine" - can be counted on to pull us through where socialist systems fail. When it became too costly for shippers to use the Panama Canal, companies found it profitable to send their goods from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast by railroad containers which could be transshipped to ocean freighters bound for the Far East.

The huge grain hopper cars used for shipping wheat from Minnesota or Illinois to the Gulf Coast beat down the cost to a point that allowed a profit for both grain companies and the farmers. With the use of new bulk shipping expertise, the supposedly moribund railroad system happens to be very much alive, at least outside the U.S. Northeast.

Up in Alaska they are worried about finding outlets for their natural gas as well as their oil. If it weren't for politics, the obvious way for getting natural gas to the American Middle West would be to build a pipeline from the Arctic North Slope through Canada to connecting lines going to Minneapolis and Chicago. But Canada, in its new parochialism, has turned away from the concept of "continentalism."

The Canadians have already cut the U.S. off from access to Canadian oil and gas. Canadian conservation groups such as the Canadian Wildlife Federation are vehemently opposed to a big North-South gas pipeline through their precious wilderness. Moreover, the western provinces of Canada possess their own unique taxing powers. They would be inclined to look upon a pipeline carrying U.S.-owned gas as a tax bonanza. They might even propose to "nationalize" - meaning to provincialize - the line. Saskatchewan has already moved to seize U.S.-owned potash resources which were developed by U.S. citizens willing to risk their capital.

Where does this leave us in respect to Alaskan gas? What are the prospects for shipments of liquified gas by the railroads? If we can solve the shipping problem for oil, I would be willing to bet we can solve the gas transport problem too.

Administrative rules require six volumes

By TOM DIEMER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A rule book for state government, Ohio's first Administrative Code of more than 7,000 bureaucratic regulations, will be available to the public in July.

Don't look for it on best seller lists. It probably won't be in many bookstores either. The rule book, currently being compiled by the Legislative Reference Bureau, could run as long as six volumes with 500 pages each, according to LRB spokeswoman Mary Orlinski.

It will be published in looseleaf binder form by Banks Baldwin Publishing Co., and while estimates are not final, it's expected to be mostly Miss Orlinski says.

If you can't wait for the complete set, individual pages are already available at 5 cents each from the reference bureau. The book will be updated as new regulations are established and old ones dropped.

The 78 agencies that have filed rules thus far range from cabinet level departments like transportation and public welfare, to such little known entities as the Accountancy Board, Embalmers and Funeral Directors, and the County Sheriff's Standard Car

Marking and Uniform Commission.

Rep. Vernon F. Cook, D-39 Cuyahoga Falls, author of the law is not yet satisfied. Cook has introduced legislation providing specific definitions of "rule" and "agency."

The agency definition would bring state-assisted college and university rules under the code law.

A rule would be defined as "any regulation, bylaw, standard, or prescript having a general and uniform operation adopted by an agency under authority of laws governing such agency..."

In other words, once the state legislature creates a government body, the agency has authority to set up its operating rules and regulations.

Cook's bill also says the expiration dates of rules, if known, should be included in the code book.

The plodding start of the 112th General Assembly is a marked contrast to the whirlwind six days that opened the previous two-year session.

The 111th General Assembly convened on Jan. 6, 1975. Six days later, six bills were signed by former Gov. John J. Gilligan after rapid fire approval in committees and on the floors of the Senate and House.

Dear Abby:
ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Key to problem fits the car

DEAR ABBY: As many others have said, I never thought I'd be writing a letter to Dear Abby, but I must confess, I don't know where to turn.

Our 17-year-old son has become interested in a girl. We've always wanted him to have girlfriends, but this one might not be good for him. A week ago Saturday, on their first date, they went to a movie. (We let him use the family car.) He came home at 7:45 Sunday morning!

He said that after the movie, he went to her house to watch television and they both fell asleep. Last Saturday night he went out at 7 p.m. and came home at 4:30 a.m. Sunday morning.

Wouldn't you say that something is drastically wrong with a mother who would allow a 15-year-old girl to keep such hours?

Any advice his father and I give him causes nothing but back talk. We've always had a good relationship with our son until now. What do you suggest?

WORRIED: DEAR WORRIED: I suggest that his father have a man-to-man talk with the boy. Of course the girl's parents should place some restrictions on her with regard to the hours she keeps, but since they do not (or she ignores them), it's up to you to put some on your son. Tell him what time you want him home, and if he doesn't comply, the key to the situation is the one that fits the car.

DEAR ABBY: I would like your opinion of the following situation:

When friends just drop in, should the hostess excuse herself and put on a pot of coffee, or get a cold drink and serve it with a sandwich, cake, cookies or whatever she has on hand? Or should she ask her guests if they would like a hot drink, a cold one or a sandwich?

My husband and I are on opposite sides of this argument and need you to settle it for us.

MILLIE IN MARYLAND

DEAR MILLIE: The gracious hostess does not inquire. She acts. (P.S. Drop-in visitors should not expect a feed-in.)

DEAR ABBY: For the last 12 years I have gone to the same hairdresser once a week for a shampoo and set. It now costs $6 plus a dollar tip and the cost of parking.

Every Christmas I have given my hairdresser a lovely gift, carefully chosen something I would like to receive myself.

"It just occurred to me, Abby, that inasmuch as I tip my hairdresser every week, SHE (or the owner) should be giving ME a small present at Christmas in appreciation of my business.

Next year should I ask, "Which would you prefer, a tip every week or a nice Christmas present?"

I would appreciate your opinion and those of your readers and hairdressers.

TIRED OF GIVING

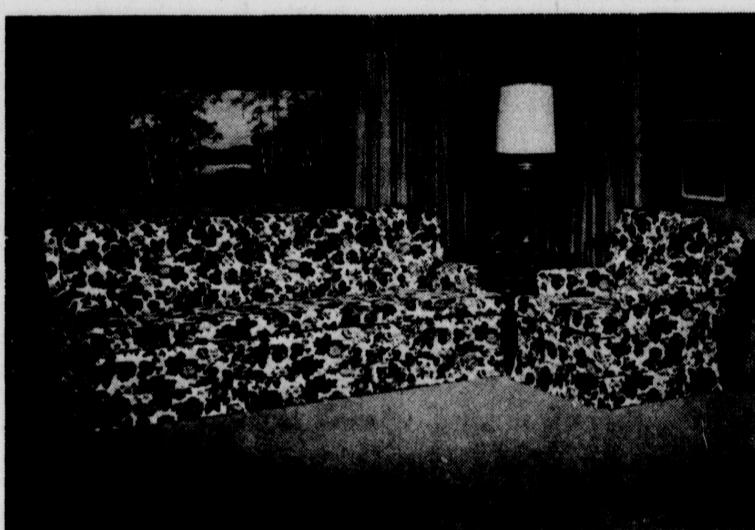

DEAR TIRED: Don't ask. Those who perform personal services NEED tips, but feeling as you do, skip

Meal Appeal

PLANNED OVERS

Cooking ahead should become a way of life for the homemaker of today. The average woman is a busy wife, mother, community worker, church member, club member, and, of course, an individual in her own right who deserves some of her own time free of a kitchen apron.

Only the woman who has tried it knows the joy of having some meals, or parts of meals, already cooked ahead. The best way to get some foods cooked and stored away is to make "cooking ahead" part of your every day meal planning and food preparation. Ways to do this are:

1. Make a concentrated effort to use recipes that can be doubled and frozen, or stored. If copying a recipe, always ask if it can be doubled and if it freezes well. Find out if it can be frozen before or after cooking, and note this on your recipe copy. The frozen version should be almost as high in quality as the one served fresh when made - the shorter the storage period, and the more constant the freezer temperature, the less change will occur.

2. Make quantity recipes specifically for the purpose of freezing several meals ahead.

3. Collect master mix recipes and use them.

You may use your own recipes for freezing meals ahead. Prepare the food in the usual way and cook it until almost done. Frozen meats and vegetables become over-cooked when reheated if they were completely cooked before freezing. Season lightly when you prepare the recipes, because some flavoring becomes stronger in frozen foods. You can add more seasoning before serving.

Crumb and cheese topping should be added to the frozen food just before reheating.

Here are tips to help you select recipes for freezing:

Cooked chicken or turkey in casseroles freezes well.

Almost any type of cooked meat, stew, ragout, or goulash can be frozen. Most vegetables used in these foods also freeze well.

Add a rich, flaky pastry topping to a meat and vegetable stew, and you have a delicious meat pie. The unbaked pastry topping may be added before freezing, or it may be made fresh and placed on the pie when it is heated for serving.

You can freeze meat loaf. Make enough for several meals and freeze the extra loaves. Meat loaf has better quality of frozen baked rather than unbaked.

Cooked dry beans freeze especially well. Because freezing softens beans somewhat, cook them until barely tender for the best quality frozen product.

Certain foods should not be frozen, because their flavor or texture changes during the freezing process, for example: cooked egg white toughens, salad greens lose their crispness and become soggy, raw tomatoes change in flavor and color and become limp and watery, raw apples and grapes become soft and mushy, and fried foods tend to have a warmed-over taste when reheated.

New potatoes are better than mature potatoes in most frozen dishes. Mature potatoes tend to disintegrate or become watery when boiled and then frozen.

Gelatin mixtures should be made stiffer than usual to lessen the chance of separating.

Thoroughly combine the flour and fat in sauces and gravies. These foods may appear curdled while thawing but will usually recombine when stirred.

When hot food is ready to be frozen, it must be cooled quickly to stop the cooking, to retard growth of bacteria, and to help retain the natural flavor, color, and texture of the food.

The freezer temperature should be 0

Sweet potato pone is colonial Charleston specialty recipe

If you ask for potatoes in the South, you will get sweet potatoes. And if you want the white potatoes of the North, you must ask for Irish potatoes. However, after tasting some of Charleston's long-cherished sweet potato specialties, you may never again ask for white potatoes.

Southerners also make a distinction between yams and sweet potatoes, yams being preferred when it is possible to get them. However, either may be used with equal success.

Charleston's sweet potato dishes are simple yet distinctive, subtly seasoned and a delightful change of pace for family meals. Sweet potatoes can be made into croquettes or puddings, served as pies or combined with apples in a casserole. Or in true Southern style, as Sweet Potato Pone. According to how it's made, this colonial favorite can be a main dish or a dessert.

This is a dessert version. Grated raw sweet potatoes are blended with butter-flavored margarine, milk, molasses and lemon juice. Then a spicy mixture of brown sugar, lemon peel, ginger, cinnamon and nutmeg is added. After baking, this delicately spiced dessert is served warm, with whipped cream or ice cream.

SWEET POTATO PONE

6 cups grated raw sweet potatoes
1/2 cup (1 stick) margarine, cut into small pieces
1 cup milk
1/4 cup molasses
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
1 teaspoon ground ginger
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/8 teaspoon ground nutmeg
Sweetened whipped cream or vanilla ice cream

In a large bowl, blend potatoes, margarine, milk, molasses and lemon juice.

In a small bowl, toss together brown sugar, lemon peel, ginger, cinnamon and nutmeg. Add to potato mixture and blend well. Turn into greased 1-1/2 quart shallow baking dish.

Bake at 350 degrees F. for 1 hour. Serve warm. Garnish with whipped cream or ice cream. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

WASHINGTON REPORT

From

WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
6th District, Ohio

WASHINGTON, D.C. — "President Gerald Ford's final budget recommends continued support for the conservation and development of southern Ohio's vital water resources," Congressman William H. Harsha said today.

The fiscal 1978 budget request contains $16.7 million for seven important water resource development projects in or affecting Harsha's Sixth Congressional District.

Included as budget items for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers civil works program are funding recommendations for Caesar Creek Lake, Alum Creek Lake, East Fork Lake, Paint Creek Lake, Deer Creek Lake, the Chillicothe Floodwall, and Ohio River port development.

In addition to funds for these public works projects, $3.5 million is being requested for a nationwide streambank erosion control, evaluation and demonstration program.

Construction on three Sixth District streambank erosion projects has already been approved under this program. Projects at Portsmouth and Moscow on the Ohio River and Milford on the Little Miami River were made possible through Harsha's amendment to the Water Resources Development Act of 1974.

The new budget also includes $70,000 for investigations into the feasibility of additional navigation improvements in connection with the State of Ohio's port development program along the Ohio River. As ranking Republican on the House Public Works and Transportation Committee, Harsha sponsored the survey resolution authorizing the port study.

Construction funds totalling $5 million, plus $222,000 for operation and maintenance are recommended in the budget for Caesar Creek Lake. The reservoir under construction will reduce flood damage on the Little Miami River. It is also expected to provide recreational benefits, as well as water supply and water quality control.

For construction on East Fork Lake, the Ford budget recommends $3,400,000, as well as $224,000 for operation and maintenance. The project is expected to provide flood protection along the Ohio Valley and to store water for municipal and industrial use.

The budget recommends $2,600,000 in construction funds for the Chillicothe Floodwall, which will provide protection from Scioto River flooding.

Recommended for the Alum Creek Lake project are $4,300,000 in construction funds and $228,000 for operation and maintenance activities. The project provides flood control in the Alum Creek and Big Walnut Creek Valleys and is an additional water supply for the Columbus metropolitan area.

The budget recommends $320,000 for operation and maintenance of the Paint Creek Lake project, which is part of a coordinated system of flood protection.

Stadium costs $1; you must move it in the Scioto and Ohio River Valleys. It also provides water supply storage for Greenfield.

Deer Creek Lake is slated to receive $418,000 for operation and maintenance activities. The project is operated for reduction of flood damages in the Deer Creek Valley and as part of the flood protection system in the Scioto and Ohio River Valleys.

AMES, Iowa (AP) — If you've always wanted to own a place where you could invite 36,000 of your friends to spend the afternoon, Iowa State University is selling just the item for you — its old football stadium.

You might be able to pick it up for as little as $1.

The catch is that picking it up is literally what you'll have to do — first dismantle the arena, then transport the parts, store them and reassemble them.

"It's like a jigsaw," said John Pace, ISU's director of space and scheduling. "We ran ads about six months ago in several national school journals and we had about 20 schools express some interest," he said.

"But their interest died fast," he added. "After they studied it, they found it would be cheaper to build a new stadium."

Iowa State vacated 60-year-old Clyde Williams Field in 1975 when its football team, the Cyclones, moved into a new $7.6 million stadium.

School authorities originally planned to tear down the old stadium on the southwest edge of the campus and turn it into a recreational park, keeping only the stadium's cinder track.

But that would have cost an estimated $200,000, and the school is trying to find a less expensive way to get rid of the stadium.

Council meets tonight

Washington C.H. City Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the City Administration Building to review the proposed sanitary sewer project.

Representatives from Bird and Bull, Ltd., the consulting engineering firm working on the project, will be at the meeting.

An executive session to discuss employee salaries and update information on the possible purchase of the Central Grocery Co. building will be held following the open session.

On Wednesday night, City Council will meet in regular session at a new site, the basement of the Carnegie Public Library.

Meetings were held at the Fraternal Order of Police building on North Fayette Street. Due to a heating problem, it was decided to change meeting sites.

Business news

Former residents to open new business center here

Two former Washington C.H. residents have returned here after a nine-year absence to launch a new business venture.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lytton will be opening a Sir Tax Business Centre in a recently remodeled building at 224 E. Court St., on Tuesday, Jan. 25.

The center will offer complete business services including income tax preparation, year-round tax counseling and taxkeeping, bookkeeping and typing. Services will be added as the need exists.

"These services will be available for the individual who needs a small personal service rendered as well as those in business," Mrs. Lytton said. The firm will also offer a service to provide businesses with temporary office help.

Violet Lytton is a native of Washington C.H. and the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Schoonover. She assisted in developing the Washington High School lunch program and served as supervisor of the program for three years.

The Lyttoms resided in Viroqua, Wis., for seven years. Lytton was employed as a controller for a National Cash Register Co. plant in Viroqua, Wis. During that time Mrs. Lytton received a degree in elementary education from the University of Wisconsin, La Crosse, Wis.

Lytton owned the Main Restaurant (now the Courtview Restaurant) before he became associated with the National Cash Register Co. He is a graduate of Ohio State University where he majored in accounting. He has been controller of the National Cash Register Co. Systemedia Division plant in Corbin, Ky., for the past two years. The Lyttoms presently reside in Corbin, Ky., and plan to relocate permanently in Washington C.H. in the spring.

Their children, Jack and Mrs. Lawrence (Jo) Svendsen, attended local schools. Jack is serving with the U.S. Navy and recently completed a three-year tour of duty at Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico. His wife, Norma, and two sons still reside in Puerto Rico and Jack is presently assigned to an oceanographic unit aboard the USS Harkness in the Caribbean Sea.

Mrs. Svendsen, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis., is associated with the L.R. Nelson Corp. in the customer relations department. Her husband is the Illinois area supervisor of Boarshead Restaurants. They reside in Peoria, Ill.

NEW BEAUTY SALON

Mrs. Connie Young, 1113 E. Paint St., has announced that she will be opening a Young Image beauty salon at 116 E. Market St., in a building formerly occupied by an H&R Block Co. income tax service office.

Mrs. Young, a former resident of Seaman in Adams County, moved to Washington C.H. in October and was employed at Connie's Coiffeurs beauty salon for three months. Before moving to Washington C.H., Mrs. Young was employed as a beauty operator in Fostoria, Ohio, for three years. She has received training in Chicago, Ill., and at various clinics throughout the area.

The Lyttoms resided in Viroqua, Wis., for seven years. Lytton was employed as a controller for a National Cash Register Co. plant in Viroqua, Wis. During that time Mrs. Lytton received a degree in elementary education from the University of Wisconsin, La Crosse, Wis.

Derailment danger now over

HANOVER, Ohio (AP) — Hundreds of residents were back in their homes today and ConRail traffic was resumed through this eastern Licking County village after work crews cleared the tracks of wreckage from a derailment.

Four tank cars containing ethylene oxide and ammonium chloride burst into flames following the derailment early Saturday and some 500 persons located downwind from the scene were evacuated because of toxic fumes being given off by the fire.

The fires were allowed to burn themselves out and the residents returned to their homes Saturday night.

Most of the people evacuated went to homes of friends or relatives. Only a few took shelter at nearby Licking Valley High School, where they watched a girls basketball game and a wrestling tournament.

Firemen and equipment from six departments went to the scene, but there was little they could do besides leading the evacuation and hosing down the derailed cars to keep the fire from spreading.

Jay R. Writsel, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Writsel, New Holland, was found guilty of speeding and his operator's license was suspended for 18 days with credit given to the suspension imposed by his parents. He was ordered to attend the next defensive driving course.

Douglas D. Miller, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Miller, 394 White Road, was found guilty of speeding, said speed being unreasonable for conditions. His operator's license was suspended for 19 days, with credit being given to the suspension imposed by his parents. He was ordered to attend the next defensive driving course.

Brian O. Elliott, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Elliott, New Holland, was found guilty of speeding. His operator's license was suspended for 30 days and he was ordered to attend the next defensive driving course.

John W. Rhoads, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Rhoads, 917 Clinton Ave., was found guilty of speeding. His operator's license was suspended for 34 days, with credit being given to the suspension imposed by his parents. He was ordered to attend the next defensive driving course.

Phillip M. Morris, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morris, 350 Ely St., was found guilty of speed unreasonable for road conditions. He was ordered to attend the next defensive driving course.

David L. Dorn, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger L. Dorn, 8958 Post Road, was found guilty of failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead. He was ordered to attend the next defensive driving course, and the court approved discipline imposed by the parents.

Stanley W. Rudy, 16, son of Mrs. Dora Rudy, Dayton, was cited for operating a motor vehicle without a valid operator's license. His reports were transferred to Montgomery County Juvenile Court for further disposition.

Emily S. Shepard, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Shepard, 6977 Camp Grove Road, was found guilty of disobeying a traffic signal. She was ordered to attend the next defensive driving course and the court approved discipline imposed by her parents.

Charles M. Nichols, Jr., 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nichols, Sr., 287 Bloomingburg-New Holland Road, was found guilty of excessive noise. His operator's license was suspended for 15 days and he was ordered to attend the next defensive driving course.

Penny L. Bellar, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bellar, 626 S. North St., was found guilty of failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead. Her operator's license was suspended until she complies with the Ohio Financial Responsibility Act, and she was ordered to attend the next defensive driving course.

Michael A. Morris, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Morris, Rt. 2, Frankfort, was found guilty of operating a motor vehicle without regard to safety. He was ordered to attend the next defensive driving course.

Area mobile home destroyed by fire

A mobile home near Mount Sterling was completely destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon after the owner attempted to thaw frozen water pipes with a welder.

Jerry V. Smith, 11203 U.S. 62-NE, told Fayette County sheriff's deputies that he had connected the welder to a pipe under the sink of the mobile home. When he started the welder, Smith said straw around the pipe ignited.

The Mount Sterling Fire Department was able to contain the fire to the mobile home and kept it from spreading to a new home which is being constructed by Smith.

Frozen water pipes brought the Washington C.H. Fire Department to 1017 E. Paint St. Sunday night when an electric welder overheated.

Norman Dale was attempting to thaw the pipes with the welder when the cord became hot and melted. The electricity was shut off and a major blaze was averted. Firemen reported that $50 damage was done.

Washington C.H. firemen also investigated two reports of gas leaks Saturday and one Sunday. The two reports on Saturday were determined to be sewer gas.

Natural gas was leaking from a clothes dryer at the home of George N. Finley, 823 Willard St., early Sunday morning. The leak was plugged and the Dayton Power and Light Co. was notified by firemen.

NEAR-RECORD PERFORMANCE — Art Schlichter of Miami Trace goes up for a lay-up against Ken Naber of the visiting Cincinnati Moeller Crusaders Saturday night.

Moeller crunches Trace; Schlichter pumps in 41

By MARK REA
Record-Herald Sports Editor

EBER, Ohio — Art Schlichter took some of the sting out of a 90-76 loss to Cincinnati Moeller Saturday night by scoring 41 points.

The junior guard took over the SCOL's overall scoring lead with his point total, a performance that lacked the school record by a single point. Dave Bihl scored 42 points in a game at Miami Trace against London in 1967 for the record.

Schlichter, as the Panthers, started out very slowly, scoring only four points in the first quarter. He found the range a little more in the second period, hitting nine points to increase his total to 13 for the game.

Schlichter then cooled off in the third quarter for only four points again and then put on one of the most unbelievable scoring shows in the history of Miami Trace sports.

The junior all-league candidate blazed the nets for 24 points in the fourth quarter alone, 16 on field goals and eight on free throws. He also scored the first 14 points for the Panthers in the period.

It was a good thing that Schlichter was on the floor Saturday night because he was the only thing that the sparse crowd had to cheer about.

The roof caved in early on Trace as they were behind 23-6 after the first quarter. The Panthers led 2-0 on a Schlichter layup but then watched that two-point lead turn into a 12-point deficit as Moeller reeled off 14 points in a row.

Senior center Ken Naber scored six in the Cincinnati spree while Tony Hunter contributed four. Moeller scored eight more unanswered points at the end of the quarter. Four of the points were scored by All-Ohio quarterback Tim Koegel.

The Panthers tried to regroup their forces after the disasterous first quarter by scoring 22 points in the second frame. Schlichter pumped in nine points and senior Dan Gifford scored six.

Brant Dunn came off the bench to inspire the play of the Panthers and got a couple of rebounds in addition to five points.

On the Moeller side, they also scored 22 points to keep their 17-point advantage. Koegel and Mark Schweitzer each scored six points in the quarter while Naber and Dean Cazel each had four.

Trace fell farther behind in the third quarter as Schlichter cooled off again. The hot-handed junior, along with Gifford and David Glass, only managed four points while Miami Trace got just 14 points.

Cincinnati scored 18 more points, six by Jim Freson and four each from Koegel and Naber, to increase their lead to 63-42 after three quarters.

The fourth quarter was the biggest output for both teams as they combined for an amazing 61 points between them. Trace whipped 34 through the basket, 24 of them by Schlichter.

Moeller didn't have a bad quarter either as they scored 27 points. Hunter scored another six while Malcolm Burch scored five, all on free throws.

Schlichter scored 12 points on six quick buckets and then another two on free throws. Four more charity tosses, two field goals, and a pair of closing free throws rounded out the near-record performance of Schlichter.

Against the bigger Moeller, Trace did rather well on the boards. They pulled down 36 rebounds against a team that had no less than seven players over 6-foot-3. Gifford pulled down the most rebounds with a total of 10.

The loss sends Trace to 4-5 for the year while they remain 3-3 in SCOL play.

There was ice on the roads and ice on the car windshields Saturday night, but there was no ice on the hands of the Washington C.H. Blue Lions basketball team as they simply burned the Vinton County Vikings out of the cold WSHS gym by a score of 91-62.

It wasn't much of a game from the start. The Lions jumped out to an early lead on jump shots from John Denen and Mike Turner. Turner was starting his first game of the year, replacing Terry Wilson at one of the forward positions.

Vinton County managed to knot the score several times before Washington C.H. took a sizeable lead at the end of the quarter, 22-18.

The Lions completely dominated the second period both offensively and defensively as they outscored the Vikings 25-10. The Lions caused the Vikings to make numerous errors due to their zone press defense.

The Lions managed to capitalize on almost every Viking miscue as the game was out of hand at halftime with Washington holding a 47-28 lead.

Denen put on a show for the crowd with 12 points in the third quarter and the Lions pulled even farther away. The junior center pumped in five shots from the field and added another two at the foul line to pace the Lions third quarter performance.

Twenty-four more points in that stanza gave Court House a commanding 71-42 lead after three quarters.

As the fourth quarter came into being, Lion coach Gary Shaffer began wholesale substitutions but the Vikings didn't have any more success against the Lion second-teamers than they did versus the front-liners.

They did manage to match Washington point for point, but it was too little late as the Lions cruised to an easy 91-62 non-league win.

Scoring honors in the game were shared by Denen and Mike Patterson of Vinton County. Each scored 28 points in the contest.

Two other Lions hit double figures. Dee Foster connected for 15 points while Sam McClelland scored 13. Denen also had 12 rebounds to his credit while Wilson pulled down seven boards coming off the bench.

The Washington C.H. reserves ran their overall record to 6-2 Saturday night by beating the previously once-defeated Vinton County reserves 50-38.

Mike Lamberson, Tom Bath, and Steve Pritchett all had double figure performances. Lamberson led all scorers with 14 points followed by Bath's 13 tallies and 11 points by Pritchett.

MT jayvees lose

The Miami Trace reserves were as cold as their gym Saturday night as the Cincinnati Moeller jayvees blasted them 76-42.

Scott Grooms was the only Panther in double figures with 13 points. John Persinger came close with nine points.

Four Moeller players hit double figures. Steve McGrew led with 14 points while Joe Gruber had 11 and Tim Kotterba and Tim Nichaus each had 10.

Trace plays its next game Tuesday evening against Chillicothe.

MIAMI TRACE (42) — Persinger 4-1-9; Delay 3-0-6; Zufarce 1-0-2; Harlan 0-1-1; Prater 1-2-4; Grooms 5-3-13; Cope 1-2-4; St. Clair 1-1-3; Total 16-10-42.

Their next game will be Friday against Greenfield McClain at home.

PILOT WITHOUT A PLANE — Terry Wilson of Washington C.H. demonstrates his leaping ability against Vinton County in Saturday night's action at WSHS. The Blue Lions crushed the Vikings 91-62 and Wilson scored four points.

Bjorn Borg beats Jimmy Connors

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

If Bjorn Borg intends to become the No. 1 tennis player in the world, he took a big step in that direction Sunday.

Borg, the defending Wimbledon and World Championship Tennis titleholder, defeated the current No. 1 men's player, Jimmy Connors, 6-4, 5-7, 6-3 in the final of the Grand Slam tennis tournament at Boca Raton, Fla.

The victory was worth $100,000 to the Swedish sensation, but there was more than monetary value in the triumph.

"This is really a big win for me," Borg said. "After all, I had lost seven straight matches to him."

Willie Mays got in 20 World Series games but never hit a home run in the fall classic.

UCLA hands out 70-65 loss

Bruin comeback too much for Irish

By KEN RAPPOPORT

AP Sports Writer

As a student of basketball, Digger Phelps enjoys the Notre Dame-UCLA basketball series.

But as a coach, he certainly did not enjoy it Sunday.

The 10th-ranked Bruins, beaten earlier in the season at Los Angeles by Phelps' Notre Dame team, made a comeback in South Bend, Ind. with a typically frenzied 70-65 victory.

The nationally televised triumph gave UCLA a split for the fourth straight year in the annual two-game series.

"This game typifies the series that we've had with UCLA," said a disappointed but appreciative Phelps. "UCLA is a class team with class people."

The lustrous intersectional rivalry has been going on for some time, but has really come into prominence in the 1970s, with the arrangement of the home-and-home series. The exciting recent games have included Notre Dame's 71-70 victory three years ago that ended the Bruins' record 88-game winning streak.

The significance of the Notre Dame game is mirrored in the thoughts of UCLA Coach Gene Bartow.

"It was my biggest win since I've been at UCLA," he said after Sunday's triumph. "The momentum just shifted to us at the right time," said Bartow. "Notre Dame had the momentum, then we had it, kept it in the second half for a while, and it changed again."

In college basketball games Saturday, second-ranked Cincinnati suffered a 78-75 upset by Tulane; No. 3 Alabama was beaten 102-93 by No. 14 Tennessee; No. 4 North Carolina defeated No. 13 Maryland 71-68; No. 5 Michigan stopped Illinois 66-61; No. 6 Kentucky blasted LSU 87-72; No. 7 Nevada-Las Vegas defeated Pepperdine 85-80; No. 8 Marquette walloped Xavier of Ohio 85-43, and No. 9 Wake Forest edged North Carolina-Charlotte 74-72.

Also, 11th-ranked Minnesota beat Wisconsin 82-64; 12th-rated Louisville routed St. Louis 74-55; No. 15 Providence trounced Boston University 83-68; No. 16 Arizona stopped Brigham Young 113-85; No. 17 Arkansas walloped Texas 86-58; No. 18 Memphis State turned back Brandeis 97-87; No.

19 Purdue whipped Michigan State 76-70, and No. 20 Syracuse outscored Pitt 96-74.

Marques Johnson scored 23 points and led a second-half surge that carried UCLA over Notre Dame. The Irish, trailing by 12 points midway through the second half, rallied behind Duck Williams and held a three-point lead with two minutes left before two straight baskets by the 6-foot-7 Johnson put the Bruins ahead to stay.

Hillsboro defeats Greenfield; Madison Plains drops pair

Hillsboro became victorious in the South Central Ohio League battle for the basement as they tripped Greenfield McClain down the steps into the cellar.

The Indians stopped the Tigers 67-56 Saturday night in a rescheduled game. In other weekend action, Madison Plains dropped a pair to non-league opponents. They lost Friday night to Greenview 51-50 and then Saturday night to Mechanicsburg 42-39.

The third quarter was the demise for Greenfield as they got outscored 25-8.

Tim Fuller was the leading scorer for Hillsboro with 30 points but McClain's Chuck Cole took game scoring honors with 32 points.

For Plains, it wasn't enough defense against Greenview and not enough offense against Mechanicsburg.

The Eagles couldn't hold on to a slim 36-35 third quarter lead and let the game slip out of their grasp on Friday night.

On Saturday evening, the Plains big guns were held down by a sticky Mechanicsburg defense.

Gary Self and Doug Sifrit led Plains on Friday night with 13 and 11 points but then scored only nine points between them on Saturday night.

Opening lead - two of spades.

It is generally unwise to double a slam the opponents have undertaken unless the contract seems certain to be defeated. This is especially true when declarer's method of play may be influenced by the double and lead him to make the contract.

For a classic example, consider this deal played many years ago by the late Phil Abramsohn. He got to six hearts doubled and West led a spade.

Declarer realized as soon as dummy came down that the only possible reason West could have for his double was that he expected to win two trump tricks. Abramsohn therefore designed his play to try to cut off one of his trump losers, if possible.

He won the spade lead with the ace, played a spade to the queen, and ruffed a spade. This was part of a plan to reduce his trump holding to the A-J-10. Then, after cashing three rounds of clubs, Abramsohn ruffed dummy's last spade, the king.

He next cashed the K-A of diamonds and ruffed the queen of diamonds in dummy. By this time ten tricks had been played and South's last three cards consisted of the A-J-10 of trumps, while West had the K-Q-9. A trump lead from dummy to the ten permitted South to lose only one trump trick and so make the slam.

There is no doubt that declarer would not have played the hand as he did if West had simply passed six hearts instead of doubling. The double alerted Abramsohn to the location of the K-Q-9 of trumps and forced him to assume that West had precisely 4-3-3 distribution. The two unusual spade ruffs in his hand that declarer engineered were both indispensable to making the slam.

Some doubles just don't pay!

Physical and Emotional Problems

Physicians rarely see patients who, in addition to their physical symptoms, do not also have some overtones of anxiety.

This combination of fear and illness can be severely debilitating. Far too often, the anxieties are more destructive than the diseases which bring the patients to the doctors' offices.

Sometimes, even mature people consider it to be a sign of weakness if they give vent to their emotional problems. Yet once they begin to express their fears to the doctor and relieve themselves of hidden anxieties, the basic problems of their physical health can more readily be understood.

Physicians now know that the art of medicine is to recognize anxiety and to stimulate their patients to reveal their fears.

There is no shame, in this hectic world of ours, to be burdened by neurotic tendencies. In fact, it is remarkable that so many people are able to cope with their problems, produce a good day's work and carry on their family and social obligations.

There are others, however, who are unable to be serviceable to themselves, to their families and to their com-

Marathon appraisal won't be fought

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — A Hancock County assistant prosecutor says Marathon Oil Co.'s $5 million reduced tax valuation won't be appealed if the county and Marathon can agree on a method for future appraisals.

The firm is headquartered here.

Findlay schools will lose $170,000 in tax revenue collected under the higher valuation of $22.9 million set by the county in 1974 if the state Board of Tax Appeals' decision is allowed to stand.

The board last week ordered the Marathon assessment lowered to $17.2 million.

Asst. Prosecutor John Noble said the county board of revisions is "not happy with the decision from the viewpoint that it doesn't tell us how to go about appraising the (Marathon office) complex in the future."

The Ordinance of 1787 for the Northwest Territory became a basic instrument of government for the Ohio area in that year, providing for encouragement of education, freedom of speech, press, and assembly, and prohibition of slavery.—AP

Two juveniles included

New York residents held for car theft

An 18-year-old New York man and two juveniles, ages 14 and 15, are being held by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department on charges of auto theft.

Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson reported that the three residents of New York are being held on charges filed by the West Seneca, N.Y., Police Department.

Thompson said that Deputy David Krupla was on routine patrol in Jeffersonville Sunday afternoon when he noticed a 1971 model Ford bearing New York license plates.

Deputy Krupla followed the vehicle on Main Street in the village and radioed to the sheriff's department for a stolen-vehicle check. The office reported back to Krupla that the vehicle had been stolen.

Sgt. John Emrick was contacted to assist Deputy Krupla in apprehending the three suspects.

West Seneca, N.Y. authorities were contacted and arrangements are being made to transport Michael D. McMillan and the two juveniles back to New York.

Sheriff's deputies also investigated a report of a stolen mailbox over the weekend.

David Burlike, 62, of 355 Bogus Road, told sheriff's deputies that the mailbox, valued at $15, was found missing Saturday afternoon. The damaged mailbox was found on Bogus Road.

The Washington C.H. Police Department investigated an alleged illegal firearm incident early Sunday.

Timothy M. Hecker, 18, of 912 Dayton Ave., said he was arguing with a man on Madison Avenue at 12:10 a.m. Sunday, when the man pulled a shotgun from his vehicle and pointed it at Hecker. The man then placed the gun back in his vehicle.

No arrests have been made.

Arthritis, Rheumatism Sufferers! Time Proven ICY-HOT PUTS PAIN TO SLEEP "Without taking Pills"

If you're one of the many, many folks who have "tried everything"—taken pills by the thousand, capsules by the dozen, until you've gagged on them, spoonfuls of evil-tasting liquids until you can't stand the sight of your medicine cabinet, then it's time you get ICY-HOT!

ICY-HOT has been making friends for just about 50 years.

You don't "take" ICY-HOT. Instead you just rub its creamy balm over the affected joints or muscles. That's all there is to it. ICY-HOT must get you the results you want—blended temporary relief from the pain of arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, soreness, stiffness. You begin to sleep peacefully again. You can actually feel the pain lessening. If you don't have relief in 24 hours, we'll return your money.

Yes, you must be 100% thrilled with the speed with which ICY-HOT puts pain to sleep, or we'll return the purchase price without question. $3.00 for 3 1/2 oz. jar, or $5.00 for 7 oz. jar.

Commission clerk resigns from post

Mrs. Janet Pope has resigned her position as clerk of the Fayette County Board of Commissioners after receiving a dissenting vote on her reappointment to the position.

Mrs. Pope, who has been the clerk since October of 1973, submitted a letter of resignation last week to the Fayette County Commissioners.

"I received a dissenting vote on my appointment as clerk to the Fayette County Commissioners for the year 1977," she wrote. "For this reason I can not work under these conditions and cannot do justice to you (commissioners) and the taxpayers of Fayette County knowing that my presence and work is not satisfactory to one commissioner for whatever reason he gave the dissenting vote."

The dissenting vote from the three-member board came from Laurence

Train derails on Ohio 41

Deputy David Souther was dispatched to the scene and upon arriving he found an emergency crew from the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad Co. unloading equipment from the semi-tractor-trailer rig in the area.

Approximately 15 cars derailed. There were no injuries and the DT&I emergency crew was still working near the scene at 7 a.m. Monday.

All urged to cut drain on energy

Statewide natural gas emergency declared

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has declared an energy emergency and asked the state's 11 million citizens to observe 65-degree thermostat settings to try to alleviate a crucial natural gas shortage.

At the same time Sunday, leaders of the General Assembly pledged their cooperation and scheduled a special session for Tuesday to consider any legislation Rhodes may feel is necessary.

Ohio is reeling under continued arctic conditions which stretched natural gas supplies beyond their limit, forced widespread school and industry shutdowns, and now are believed a threat to health and safety.

Rhodes' action Sunday, after a two-day series of hastily called weekend meetings with fuel industry spokesmen, labor, business, and government officials, stopped short of what some wanted—the declaration of an energy crisis.

The state's Energy Research and Development Agency (ERDA), at another special meeting Sunday, advocated the more serious designation, saying it would give the governor authority to mandate energy controls, not just ask for cooperation.

However, at a late Sunday news conference, Rhodes pointed out, and legislative leaders agreed, that the law enabling him to declare a crisis contained no enforcement or penalty tools.

All the testimony at the series of Saturday and Sunday hearings, he said, indicated that the only area in which Ohio can make further substantial gas savings is residential.

He said the state has no way to determine who is violating a mandated, 65-degree thermostat, and that while he might want to try something more drastic later, "we've got to give the people the chance to cooperate."

Rhodes said he is asking the news media to help the campaign for voluntary conservation, and that he either will make a televised appeal himself or ask Ohio's clergymen to join in such an effort.

The 67-year-old governor clearly was perplexed with lawyers around him debating what can be done or cannot be done under a 1974 energy law, which so far has done little but confuse.

"I don't care if it is a crisis, an emergency, or a catastrophe—it's all the same. We have to do what we can, and now, not next year," he declared.

Rhodes' pitch for voluntary controls asks residential natural gas users to observe 65-degree settings in daytime and 55 degrees at night, to close off unused rooms, utilize fireplaces where possible and reduce thermostats to 45 for vacations.

For shops, stores, and other business places, including offices, he is asking the same temperature controls and adding a request to turn off hot water in rest rooms. Schools, which would have been forced to close for 30 days under ERDA's recommendation for mandatory controls, are asked by the governor to observe 65-degree temperatures.

Many schools around the state have closed voluntarily since the crunch began. A manufacturers' spokesman estimated Sunday that about 25,000-30,000 factory workers have been sent home, and predicted the figure will reach 100,000 by Feb. 1 when further major industrial gas curtailments are planned.

House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, and Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, appeared with the governor to announce the special session of the legislature, which was to have been in recess until Feb. 1.

Ocasek said the special session was called so that the lawmakers "will be prepared to act immediately in the light of Ohio's present energy situation."

Rhodes' declaration of an energy emergency was in the same form as one he issued Thursday for the 24-county area served by the Dayton Power & Light Co. This time, however, the order applies statewide.

Rhodes made no requests for schools to close, at least for the time being, and no mention was made to limiting business operations throughout the state to 40 hours a week. The state energy agency, in Rhodes' absence last week, sought to shut down schools and restrict business operations in Dayton only to learn it lacked the authority.

Rhodes said he is asking the Ohio National Guard, along with the state's mayors, to be ready to deal with "human and logistics emergencies," such as disruptions in fuel supplies.

The governor announced the formation of an energy emergency management committee in the development department, consisting of representatives from all segments of Ohio society who are affected by the fuel crunch. He said he is asking President Carter to allocate more natural gas and alternate fuels to the state.

The governor's action came only a few hours after a morning meeting of ERDA at which its members agreed without dissent to ask the governor to declare an energy crisis.

However, the members had delayed a formal vote until later in the day to let them decide whether to include fuels other than natural gas in their recommendation.

Rhodes, who had slapped the agency on the wrist late in the week for attempting to impose mandatory controls in Dayton, denied he was ignoring ERDA. "I welcome their recommendations, they do a good job," he said.

Coffee Break . . .

BECAUSE of the reappraisal of Fayette County property, tax bills will not be mailed until late February.

Fayette County Treasurer Harold Hise said he received approval today for an extension on payment. The bills will not be due until March 30.

IN AN effort to cooperate with the voluntary natural gas conservation program in the community, the Carnegie Public Library will curtail its hours from the present 64 per week to 40 beginning today.

Eric Halverson, library director, said the revised hours of operation will be 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday and Tuesday; 12 noon to 9 p.m. on Wednesday, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The new library hours will parallel the hours adopted by most of the stores in the downtown business district and will provide library patrons the opportunity of combining library and shopping trips.

The Fayette County bookmobile will operate on its regular schedule on Thursday.

adding that he expected to receive ERDA's regulations on Monday. Later, ERDA Chairman William Ferguson said he did not know if the agency would meet again before Tuesday.

It wanted not only that a crisis be declared, but also to mandate 30-day school closings statewide; restrict businesses to 40 hours a week, and require all thermostats on 65-degree settings even though ERDA admitted they couldn't be enforced.

Rhodes' meetings on Sunday were with spokesmen for the propane and fuel oil industry, including those of Sohio, Ashland Oil, Shell Oil, Union Oil Co., Marathon, and Gulf Oil Co., all of whom said generally they are taking care of present customers but do have severe delivery problems and could absorb more business.

The governor also heard problems, more of a long range nature, of the state's independent oil and gas drillers. He planned to meet today with electric utility spokesmen with regard to environmental restrictions on the industrial use of Ohio's high sulfur coal, a related and just as important a problem, Rhodes said.

How long remains question

Students in class

Students in the Washington C.H. and Miami Trace school districts were in class today. But just how long they will be there remains to be seen.

Schools in the 24-county area served by the Dayton Power and Light Co. had been faced with the possibility of a state-ordered 30-day closure.

But, Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes Sunday opted to declare a statewide energy emergency, not a crisis. However, Rhodes made no requests for schools to close, at least for the time being.

The two local school districts are remaining open pending action by the Ohio General Assembly.

A special session of the Ohio legislature will convene on Tuesday to deal with whatever emergency laws may be needed to deal with the energy crisis. The legislature was not scheduled to convene until Feb. 1.

"We're still faced with the possibility of a shutdown, but I'm guessing it will be mid-week before the legislature acts to put teeth into the governor's emergency declaration," said Guy M. Foster, superintendent of the Miami Trace School District.

The Washington C.H. Board of Education is scheduled to meet at 7:30 p.m. tonight and the natural gas crisis is expected to be the prime topic of discussion.

The school districts have not received any formal instruction from the state level on the possibility of closing.

Meanwhile, officials in the Miami Trace School District are considering two proposals for two of the district's four buildings which are heated with natural gas.

Foster said it has been proposed to close the gymnasium at Bloomingburg Elementary School and an annex housing two classrooms at New Holland Elementary School.

District administrators were scheduled to consider the two proposals in a meeting at 4:30 p.m. today with the principals of the two elementary schools.

Foster said other voluntary moves to reduce natural gas consumption are being considered. Jeffersonville and Staunton elementary schools are also heated with natural gas.

Against local union

Labor practice charge filed in DP&L strike

DAYTON, Ohio — An unfair labor practice charge has been filed by the Dayton Power and Light Co. with the National Labor Relations Board in Cincinnati.

William Miller, director of the industrial relations department of the Dayton Power and Light Co., said the charge was filed against the Utility Workers Union of America Local No. 175 as a result of the action by the union in threatening to fine employees of the Dayton Power and Light Co., who have refused to participate in the strike called by the local union and who have resigned their membership in the union and returned to work.

The charge was filed with Emil Farkas, regional director of the National Labor Relations Board.

Miller stated that it is his understanding that the National Labor Relations Act protects and permits employees who do not want to engage in a strike and who resign their membership in a union to return to work during a strike.

According to Miller, many employees of the Dayton Power and Light Co. have resigned from the union and have expressed a desire to return to work. He stated that he believed that the action by the union "was intended to do nothing more than frighten employees into not returning to work despite the current emergency situation."

Miller said he asked the National Labor Relations Board to take immediate action to remedy the "illegal action by the union so that employees of the Dayton Power and Light Co. would be assured that if they desire to return to work they could resign from the union at any time before they return to work and could then legally return to work without running the risk of being fined."

Some 2,200 employees of the Dayton Power and Light Co. have been on strike since Monday, Jan. 10.

Transportation problems hit returning MT pupils

The Miami Trace School District experienced a "difficult morning" today as a cold front added more than an inch of snow to what's already on the ground.

Meanwhile, travelers advisories were in effect today for southern and central Ohio, with accumulations of two to three inches of snow expected in southern sections of the state.

"We struggled a little bit today with our transportation," said Guy M. Foster, superintendent of the Miami Trace School District.

Three buses on the Miami Trace High School routes experienced difficulties on snow-covered county roads and were unable to complete their routes.

Foster said there were no serious accidents. Wreckers were summoned to assist and high school students aboard were transferred to other school buses.

Several of the district's school buses were running 20 to 30 minutes behind schedule.

"It was a difficult morning, but the parents and kids were quite cooperative," Foster said.

The Miami Trace School District has been closed since Jan. 6 due to weather conditions and in an effort to conserve on natural gas.

Carter seeks arms sales curb

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is calling for a halt to all nuclear testing, "instantly and completely," as part of a broader program to curb the spread of nuclear weapons and ultimately ban them from the earth.

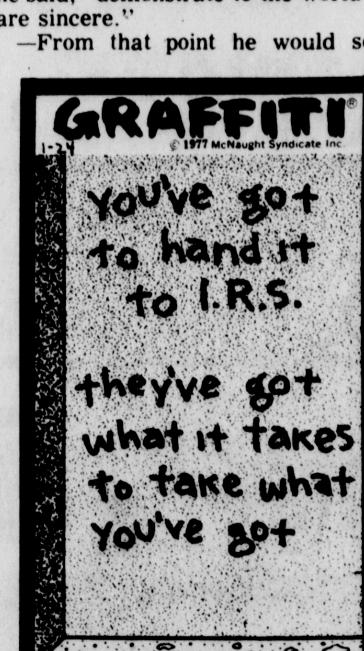

In his first interview as President, conducted Sunday for publication today, Carter acknowledged that he did not know whether the Soviet Union would agree to his proposal for a quick halt that would stop even underground testing. But, he said, "They have sent an encouraging message back."

The fledgling President, meeting in his Oval Office with four reporters for The Associated Press and United Press International, also expressed optimism that there will be "fairly rapid ratification" of a new strategic arms limitation treaty with the Soviets.

And he said his National Security Council is in agreement on the need to reduce overseas sales of American-made weapons, but that he does not anticipate "a moratorium" on such tests.

On strategic arms talks, Carter hinted that he might be willing to bypass for later consideration a long-standing East-West debate over how to deal with the U.S. cruise missile and Soviet backfire bomber in any new strategic arms pact. He declared: "I would not let those two items stand in the way of some agreement."

Asserting that he "very deeply" meant what he said in his inaugural address about ultimately eliminating

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Norman Lear, the sad-faced sitcom king, is a bit harried lately. He's been face-lifting "Mary Hartman" and "A Year at the Top," runs eight other shows and faces a possible Writers Guild strike affecting the entire TV industry on March 1.

That date is when the guild's current industry contract expires, and agreement reached in the summer of 1973 after a 3½-month strike that delayed work on most series scheduled for the 1973-74 season.

But Lear sounded quite calm when asked why he:

—Recently began personally toiling again on the Hartman show, which some critics groused had become a daily doomer of "Serious Social commentary with little of its old, wild, spaced-out humor."

—Got CBS' permission to yank his scheduled (for Jan. 19) "Top" comedy about aged performers who get instant youth from the devil in exchange for their souls and a year's show biz success.

"Top," with eight regulars, including Mickey Rooney, "just wasn't very good," candidly admitted Lear, who returned the show to his emporium for revamping and possibly a fresh start in September.

"It was just too complicated. We were trying to tell too many things and consequently nothing was told. And we just did a bad job."

He still believes in the show's concept, but says its revamping will include a reduction in cast size, a move being discussed now.

"In simplifying it, we will lose some characters, but I don't know which ones yet," he said.

Lear, whose syndicated Hartman show got much praise when it began in early 1975, ran afoul of grumblies from critics and letter-writing fans who said it was getting boring. Ratings slumped briefly.

His diagnosis: "It was taking itself too seriously and consequently so was some of the acting."

Crime by girls being studied

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — An nearly 400 per cent increase in violent crimes by teenage girls in the last 16 years is being investigated by two Bowling Green State University professors.

During that period, violent crimes by teenage boys rose 236 per cent. Crimes against property increased 334 per cent for girls, compared with 82 per cent for boys, according to Peggy C. Giordano and Stephen A. Cernovich, assistant sociology professors.

They are investigating the disparity through a $165,000 grant from the National Institute of Mental Health.

Their project will survey the attitudes and behavior of juveniles in three state-supported detention homes and compare them with opinions of teenagers in the Columbus school system.

Since we started the Directory Assistance charge, only about 10% of our customers have been charged.

If you remember these tips, you'll probably never be in that 10% who pay a Directory Assistance charge:

- Look in the book
- There is a monthly allowance of 3 calls to Directory Assistance anywhere in your area code. (There is no charge for calls outside your area code.) Remember, you can get 2 numbers on each Directory Assistance call.
- If a friend or business has moved recently, call the old number. An intercept operator will give you the new number at no extra charge. This service is offered for at least 45 days after a residence customer has moved and 12 months after a business has moved.

• If you regularly call unknown numbers in another city within your area code, call our business office. We'll give you the directory for that city, at no charge.

The reason for our new charge is that most of the calls to Directory Assistance are made by a very small part of the public. And most of those calls are for numbers already listed in the telephone directory. The cost of providing this service is enormous, and all of us have shared it in the past.

With the new Directory Assistance charge, those who use the service most will pay for it. And that means about 10% of our customers instead of all customers.

Use your directory for assistance and save.

Our land of contrasts

The drama of the weather at this season illustrates as well as anything does the giant scale and diversity of our land. During the winter months the inhabitants of this broad segment of North America occupied by the United States experience an enormous range of temperatures and weather conditions.

Of late this has been graphically demonstrated. While scores of millions in the Midwest and Northeast were contending with heavy snow, below-zero temperatures and savage winds. Southern Californians basked and dosed themselves in summery weather that boosted the mercury into the low 80s.

The contrast is not always so striking. Not even the southernmost states are balmy all the time in winter, and even in the northern-tier states King Boreas occasionally rests on his laurels - or, perhaps in remorse, provides one of those brilliant, glistening, mild winter days that compensate for bitter storms.

Besides, as spring creeps northward the contrast will gradually diminish. Not much more than a couple of months hence there will be vernal intimations - a subtle greening, early flowers, a rising chorus of birdsong - across much of the nation. But for the time being the weather reminds us that ours is a land with a climatic and scenic mix such as few countries can boast.

THESE DAYS....By John Chamberlain

No problem about Alaskan oil?

The worries about getting oil from the Alaskan North Slope to the American Midwest have had a lot of people wrinkling their foreheads. Supposedly the Alaskan production, which will come to 1.2 million barrels a day, will result in a surplus of some 500,000 barrels a day which can't be used on the Pacific Coast.

Our politicians, generally an ornery lot who don't understand economics, are dead set against selling Alaskan oil to Japan in exchange for due bills entitling us to bring in an energy equivalent from OPEC nations to the U.S. East Coast. The pipeline builders are gloomy; they tell us that it will take three or more years to upgrade existing pipelines and to build new ones between California and Middle Western markets.

So what are we to do? Four railroads - the Southern Pacific, the Santa Fe, the Missouri Pacific and the Burlington Northern - tell us that the problem of finding Pacific Coast storage space for a 500,000 barrel daily glut is something we will never have to encounter. The railroads count on the specialized TankTrain, a concept that has been developed by the General American Transportation Corporation, a GATX subsidiary which happens to be the largest U.S. lessor of freight cars, with 52,000 tank cars in its fleet.

The TankTrain, consisting of 90 separate cars, can be loaded or unloaded by a two-man crew in five hours where a conventional train would take 12 men working for 10 hours. Featuring a system of interconnecting hoses, special valves and sensing devices, the TankTrain takes on or discharges 3,000 gallons to the minute. A single conventional pump is all that is needed to move oil from a tanker or barge to and through the TankTrain. The cost of loading and unloading a TankTrain comes to two cents a barrel where it costs some 14 cents to load a conventional tank car in a train without the interconnecting hose system.

The prospect of a fairly easy solution for bringing Alaskan oil to Middle America is just one more reminder that the derided capitalist system - the "incredible bread machine" - can be counted on to pull us through where socialist systems fail. When it became too costly for shippers to use the Panama Canal, companies found it profitable to send their goods from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast by railroad containers which could be transshipped to ocean freighters bound for the Far East.

A sudden flash of intuition in a romantic matter will be right on target. Follow through and recent barriers to happiness will fall.

TAURUS
(April to May 21)

A new type of work assignment should make your day more interesting than usual. On the personal side, an unexpected invitation will delight you.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Certain rare opportunities indicated. Familiarize yourself with data and knowledge required, then step forth with quality action, proven technique.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Mixed influences. Avoid overoptimism. Too rosy an outlook could cause you to overlook small but vital details. The p.m. brings some good news.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Your innate aggressiveness will prove an advantage in conducting day's activities. Don't push too hard and alienate associates, however.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

End energies wisely. There's a tendency now to overtax yourself. Your talent for carrying out assignments against big odds can be cleverly used.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

A sudden flash of intuition in a romantic matter will be right on target. Follow through and recent barriers to happiness will fall.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Never mind the odds against you: Keep working toward your objectives. There is always a way for the imaginative, optimistic worker. And you are that!

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Do not pay too much attention if associates seem difficult. Some persons may be "edgy" now, so don't take unseemly action personally.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

You could launch a new venture now if you have given it careful thought. A good day for promoting, advertising your wares; in general, to press on to better things.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Fine influences stimulate your ingenuity, creativity and personality. Be careful, however, not to go to extremes in anything you undertake.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

More gains indicated than you anticipate. But there will be SOME obstacles, so pick your way alertly and cautiously - but without anxiety.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a dynamic personality, unusual versatility and terrific ambition. You attract and make friends with people in all walks of life, but prefer those with high ideals and strong convictions. Those who are wishy-washy turn you off completely. You could do well in the business world, but only in a managerial capacity. Your individuality is too strong to follow orders to the satisfaction of others. In the creative world, however, you could make an outstanding name for yourself for here that same individuality becomes an asset. Many dramatists, artists, tragedians and classical writers have been Aquarians.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Key to problem fits the car

DEAR ABBY: As many others have said, I never thought I'd be writing a letter to Dear Abby, but I must confess, I don't know where to turn.

Our 17-year-old son has become interested in a girl. We've always wanted him to have girlfriends, but this one might not be good for him. A week ago Saturday, on their first date, they went to a movie. (We let him use the family car.) He came home at 7:45 Sunday morning!

He said that after the movie, he went to her house to watch television and they both fell asleep. Last Saturday night he went out at 7 p.m. and came home at 4:30 a.m. Sunday morning.

Wouldn't you say that something is drastically wrong with a mother who would allow a 15-year-old girl to keep such hours?

Any advice his father and I give him causes nothing but back talk. We've always had a good relationship with our son until now. What do you suggest?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: I suggest that his father have a man-to-man talk with the boy. Of course the girl's parents should place some restrictions on her with regard to the hours she keeps, but since they do not (or she ignores them), it's up to you to put some on your son. Tell him what time you want him home, and if he doesn't comply, the key to the situation is the one that fits the car.

DEAR ABBY: I would like your opinion of the following situation:

When friends just drop in, should the hostess excuse herself and put on a pot of coffee, or get a cold drink and serve it with a sandwich, cake, cookies or whatever she has on hand? Or should she ask her guests if they would like a hot drink, a cold one or a sandwich?

My husband and I are on opposite sides of this argument and need you to settle it for us.

MILLIE IN MARYLAND

DEAR MILLIE: The gracious hostess does not inquire. She acts. (P.S. Drop-in visitors should not expect a feed-in.)

DEAR ABBY: For the last 12 years I have gone to the same hairdresser once a week for a shampoo and set. It now costs $6 plus a dollar tip and the cost of parking.

Every Christmas I have given my hairdresser a lovely gift, carefully chosen something I would like to receive myself.

It just occurred to me, Abby, that inasmuch as I tip my hairdresser every week, SHE (or the owner) should be giving ME a small present at Christmas in appreciation of my business.

Next year should I ask, "Which would you prefer, a tip every week or a nice Christmas present?"

I would appreciate your opinion and those of your readers and hairdressers.

TIRE OF GIVING

DEAR TIRED: Don't ask. Those who perform personal services NEED tips, but feeling as you do, skip the Christmas gift.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, Jan. 24, the 24th day of 1977. There are 341 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1848, a gold nugget was found in California at a sawmill being built for John Sutter near Coloma in the Sierras. The discovery touched off the California gold rush.

On this date:

In 1830, the city of Venice was declared a free port.

In 1915, the British defeated the Germans in a World War I sea battle off Dogger Bank in the North Sea.

In 1924, Petrograd was renamed Leningrad in honor of the founder of the Soviet Union.

In 1945, in World War II, Soviet soldiers crossed the Oder River, reaching German soil for the first time.

In 1949, the U.S. Air Force organized Operation Haylift to try to save millions of cattle and sheep isolated by heavy snow on the Great Plains.

In 1965, Sir Winston Churchill died at his home in London at the age of 90.

Ten years ago: Premier Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam ran into a wild anti-war demonstration on a visit to New Zealand.

Five years ago: Israeli planes strafed inside Syria as students rioted in Cairo demanding immediate war with Israel.

One year ago: The United States and Spain signed a fiveyear Treaty of Friendship and Cooperation, increasing Spain's status in the Western defense community.

Today's birthday: U.S. Ambassador to West Germany Walter Stoessel Jr. is 57.

Thought for today: We shape our buildings; thereafter they shape us. — Sir Winston Churchill.

The economical Lancastrian system of schools, which employed older students, or monitors, to assist in teaching, was introduced in Ohio in 1816, only a decade after its inauguration in the United States. Such a school was established in Chillicothe in 1816 where books were furnished and the cost for each pupil was only $2.50 a quarter.—AP

Meal Appeal

By GLADYS KIRK
County Extension Agent,
Home Economics

(This is the third of eight articles on menu planning brought to you by the Cooperative Extension Service. Watch for the picture of Annie Anybody, the busy homemaker each week.)

PLANNED OVERS

Cooking ahead should become a way of life for the homemaker of today. The average woman is a busy wife, mother, community worker, church member, club member, and, of course, an individual in her own right who deserves some of her own time free of a kitchen apron.

Only the woman who has tried it knows the joy of having some meals, or parts of meals, already cooked ahead. The best way to get some foods cooked and stored away is to make "cooking ahead" part of your every day meal planning and food preparation. Ways to do this are:

1. Make a concentrated effort to use recipes that can be doubled and frozen, or stored. If copying a recipe, always ask if it can be doubled and if it freezes well. Find out if it can be frozen before or after cooking, and note this on your recipe copy. The frozen version should be almost as high in quality as the one served fresh when made - the shorter the storage period, and the more constant the freezer temperature, the less change will occur.

2. Make quantity recipes specifically for the purpose of freezing several meals ahead.

3. Collect master mix recipes and use them.

You may use your own recipes for freezing meals ahead. Prepare the food in the usual way and cook it until almost done. Frozen meats and vegetables become over-cooked when reheated if they were completely cooked before freezing. Season lightly when you prepare the recipes, because some flavoring becomes stronger in frozen foods. You can add more seasoning before serving.

Crumb and cheese topping should be added to the frozen food just before reheating.

Here are tips to help you select recipes for freezing:

Cooked chicken or turkey in casseroles freezes well.

Almost any type of cooked meat, stew, ragout, or goulash can be frozen. Most vegetables used in these foods also freeze well.

Add a rich, flaky pastry topping to a meat and vegetable stew, and you have a delicious meat pie. The unbaked pastry topping may be added before freezing, or it may be made fresh and placed on the pie when it is heated for serving.

You can freeze meat loaf. Make enough for several meals and freeze the extra loaves. Meat loaf has better quality of frozen baked rather than unbaked.

Cooked dry beans freeze especially well. Because freezing softens beans somewhat, cook them until barely tender for the best quality frozen product.

Certain foods should not be frozen, because their flavor or texture changes during the freezing process, for example: cooked egg white toughens, salad greens lose their crispness and become soggy, raw tomatoes change in flavor and color and become limp and watery, raw apples and grapes become soft and mushy, and fried foods tend to have a warmed-over taste when reheated.

New potatoes are better than mature potatoes in most frozen dishes. Mature potatoes tend to disintegrate or become watery when boiled and then frozen.

Gelatin mixtures should be made stiffer than usual to lessen the chance of separating.

Thoroughly combine the flour and fat in sauces and gravies. These foods may appear curdled while thawing but will usually recombine when stirred.

When hot food is ready to be frozen, it must be cooled quickly to stop the cooking, to retard growth of bacteria, and to help retain the natural flavor, color, and texture of the food.

The freezer temperature should be 0

Sweet potato pone is colonial Charleston specialty recipe

If you ask for potatoes in the South, you will get sweet potatoes. And if you want the white potatoes of the North, you must ask for Irish potatoes. However, after tasting some of Charleston's long-cherished sweet potato specialties, you may never again ask for white potatoes.

Southerners also make a distinction between yams and sweet potatoes, yams being preferred when it is possible to get them. However, either may be used with equal success.

Charleston's sweet potato dishes are simple yet distinctive, subtly seasoned and a delightful change of pace for family meals. Sweet potatoes can be made into croquettes or puddings, served as pies or combined with apples in a casserole. Or in true Southern style, as Sweet Potato Pone. According to how it's made, this colonial favorite can be a main dish or a dessert.

This is a dessert version. Grated raw sweet potatoes are blended with buttery-flavored margarine, milk, molasses and lemon juice. Then a spicy mixture of brown sugar, lemon peel, ginger, cinnamon and nutmeg is added. After baking, this delicately spiced dessert is served warm, with whipped cream or ice cream.

SWEET POTATO PONE

6 cups grated raw sweet potatoes
1/2 cup (1 stick) margarine, cut into small pieces
1 cup milk
1/4 cup molasses
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
1 teaspoon ground ginger
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
Sweetened whipped cream or vanilla ice cream

In a large bowl, blend potatoes, margarine, milk, molasses and lemon juice.

In a small bowl, toss together brown sugar, lemon peel, ginger, cinnamon and nutmeg. Add to potato mixture and blend well. Turn into greased 1-1/2 quart shallow baking dish.

Bake at 350 degrees F. for 1 hour. Serve warm. Garnish with whipped cream or ice cream. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

WASHINGTON REPORT

From

WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
6th District, Ohio

WASHINGTON, D.C. — "President Gerald Ford's final budget recommends continued support for the conservation and development of southern Ohio's vital water resources," Congressman William H. Harsha said today.

The fiscal 1978 budget request contains $16.7 million for seven important water resource development projects in or affecting Harsha's Sixth Congressional District.

Included as budget items for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers civil works program are funding recommendations for Caesar Creek Lake, Alum Creek Lake, East Fork Lake, Paint Creek Lake, Deer Creek Lake, the Chillicothe Floodwall, and Ohio River port development.

In addition to funds for these public works projects, $3.5 million is being requested for a nationwide streambank erosion control, evaluation and demonstration program.

Construction on three Sixth District streambank erosion projects has already been approved under this program. Projects at Portsmouth and Moscow on the Ohio River and Milford on the Little Miami River were made possible through Harsha's amendment to the Water Resources Development Act of 1974.

The new budget also includes $70,000 for investigations into the feasibility of additional navigation improvements in connection with the State of Ohio's port development program along the Ohio River. As ranking Republican on the House Public Works and Transportation Committee, Harsha sponsored the survey resolution authorizing the port study.

Construction funds totalling $5 million, plus $222,000 for operation and maintenance are recommended in the budget for Caesar Creek Lake. The reservoir under construction will reduce flood damage on the Little Miami River. It is also expected to provide recreational benefits, as well as water supply and water quality control.

For construction on East Fork Lake, the Ford budget recommends $3,400,000, as well as $224,000 for operation and maintenance. The project is expected to provide flood protection along the Ohio Valley and to store water for municipal and industrial use.

The budget recommends $2,600,000 in construction funds for the Chillicothe Floodwall, which will provide protection from Scioto River flooding.

Recommended for the Alum Creek Lake project are $4,300,000 in construction funds and $228,000 for operation and maintenance activities. The project provides flood control in the Alum Creek and Big Walnut Creek Valleys and is an additional water supply for the Columbus metropolitan area.

The budget recommends $320,000 for operation and maintenance of the Paint Creek Lake project, which is part of a coordinated system of flood protection

Stadium costs $1; you must move it

AMES, Iowa (AP) — If you've always wanted to own a place where you could invite 36,000 of your friends to spend the afternoon, Iowa State University is selling just the item for you — its old football stadium.

You might be able to pick it up for as little as $1.

The catch is that picking it up is literally what you'll have to do — first dismantle the arena, then transport the parts, store them and reassemble them.

"It's like a jigsaw," said John Pace, ISU's director of space and scheduling. "We ran ads about six months ago in several national school journals and we had about 20 schools express some interest," he said.

"But their interest died fast," he added. "After they studied it, they found it would be cheaper to build a new stadium."

Iowa State vacated 60-year-old Clyde Williams Field in 1975 when its football team, the Cyclones, moved into a new $7.6 million stadium.

School authorities originally planned to tear down the old stadium on the southwest edge of the campus and turn it into a recreational park, keeping only the stadium's cinder track.

But that would have cost an estimated $200,000, and the school is trying to find a less expensive way to get rid of the stadium.

Deer Creek Lake is slated to receive $418,000 for operation and maintenance activities. The project is operated for reduction of flood damages in the Deer Creek Valley and as part of the flood protection system in the Scioto and Ohio River Valleys.

Two persons hurt in U.S. 22 crash

Officers check 14 weekend traffic mishaps

Two Fayette County residents were treated and released at Fayette County Memorial Hospital following a two-car collision on U.S. 22 near Bogus Road Saturday.

Fayette County sheriff's deputies reported that Leona R. Perry, 40, of 3518 U.S. 22, was westbound on U.S. 22 when she attempted to turn left onto JoAnn Drive. Dana B. Kirkpatrick, 22, New Holland, was reportedly driving behind the Perry auto and was unable to stop causing the collision.

Kirkpatrick was cited for failure to maintain an assured clear distance. The Perry auto was severely damaged and the Kirkpatrick auto sustained moderate damage in the 8:18 p.m. accident.

Area law enforcement agencies investigated 14 other traffic mishaps over the weekend. No injuries were reported in the accidents.

POLICE

SATURDAY, 8:55 a.m. — Ralph E. Douglas, 55, of 742 Fairview Drive, was reportedly backing from the driveway of his residence when his car struck an auto driven by Annalee J. Anthony, 62, of 827 Hinde St.

11:15 a.m. — Police officers reported that Dwight F. Conrad, 63, of 527 Eastern Ave., was pulling from a U.S. stronger than Soviets?

PARIS (AP) — The head of a French think tank says the debate in the United States about the possibility of the Soviet Union having achieved military superiority is a false one and U.S. forces are still "clearly dominant."

"It's part of an alarmist campaign of intoxication that just does not reflect the reality of ongoing American superiority," said Gen. Georges Buis in an interview.

Buis was director of the French armed forces' Center for Superior Military Studies when he retired in 1972. He is now president of the Foundation for National Defense Studies, a three-year-old organization partly financed by the French government.

Buis was asked to comment on statements by Lt. Gen. George J. Keegan Jr., former head of U.S. Air Force Intelligence, and former Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld that the favorable balance of power was slipping away from the United States.

"We're watching an old operation that we've seen before," said Buis. "The facts don't back up the statements of alarm."

3 persons die in road mishaps

By The Associated Press
There were three traffic deaths on Ohio roads during the weekend, the state Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol keeps the count from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

The dead:

SUNDAY
YOUNGSTOWN — Karen L. Edwards, 15, Warren, when the car in which she was riding went out of control on a Mahoning County road.

CANAL WINCHESTER — Janice C. Stevens, 19, and Barbara M. Stevens, 34, both of Columbus, when the car in which they were passengers hit a parked school bus on U.S. 33.

Council meets tonight

Washington C.H. City Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the City Administration Building to review the proposed sanitary sewer project.

Representatives from Bird and Bull, Ltd., the consulting engineering firm working on the project, will be at the meeting.

An executive session to discuss employee salaries and update information on the possible purchase of the Central Grocery Co. building will be held following the open session.

On Wednesday night, City Council will meet in regular session at a new site, the basement of the Carnegie Public Library.

Meetings were held at the Fraternal Order of Police building on North Fayette Street. Due to a heating problem, it was decided to change meeting sites.

Business news

Former residents to open new business center here

Two former Washington C.H. residents have returned here after a nine-year absence to launch a new business venture.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lytton will be opening a Sir Tax Business Centre in a recently remodeled building at 224 E. Court St., on Tuesday, Jan. 25.

The center will offer complete business services including income tax preparation, year-round tax counseling and taxkeeping, bookkeeping and typing. Services will be added as the need exists.

"These services will be available for the individual who needs a small personal service rendered as well as those in business," Mrs. Lytton said.

The firm will also offer a service to provide businesses with temporary office help.

Violet Lytton is a native of Washington C.H. and the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Schoonover. She assisted in developing the Washington High School lunch program and served as supervisor of the program for three years.

The Lyttsons resided in Viroqua, Wis., for seven years. Lytton was employed as a controller for a National Cash Register Co. plant in Viroqua, Wis. During that time Mrs. Lytton received a degree in elementary education from the University of Wisconsin, La Crosse, Wis.

Lytton owned the Main Restaurant (now the Courtview Restaurant) before he became associated with the National Cash Register Co. He is a graduate of Ohio State University where he majored in accounting. He has been controller of the National Cash Register Co. Systemedia Division plant in Corbin, Ky., for the past two years. The Lyttsons presently reside in Corbin, Ky., and plan to relocate permanently in Washington C.H. in the spring.

Their children, Jack and Mrs. Lawrence (Jo) Svendsen, attended local schools. Jack is serving with the U.S. Navy and recently completed a three-year tour of duty at Roosevelt Roads, Puerto Rico. His wife, Norma, and two sons still reside in Puerto Rico and Jack is presently assigned to an oceanographic unit aboard the USS Harkness in the Caribbean Sea.

Mrs. Svendsen, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis., is associated with the L.R. Nelson Corp. in the customer relations department. Her husband is the Illinois area supervisor of Boarshead Restaurants. They reside in Peoria, Ill.

NEW BEAUTY SALON

Mrs. Connie Young, 1113 E. Paint St., has announced that she will be opening a Young Image beauty salon at 116 E. Market St., in a building formerly occupied by an H&R Block Co. income tax service office.

Mrs. Young, a former resident of Seaman in Adams County, moved to Washington C.H. in October and was employed at Connie's Coiffeurs beauty salon for three months. Before moving to Washington C.H., Mrs. Young was employed as a beauty operator in Fostoria, Ohio, for three years. She has received training in Chicago, Ill., and at various clinics throughout the area.

Derailment danger now over

HANOVER, Ohio (AP) — Hundreds of residents were back in their homes today and ConRail traffic was resumed through this eastern Licking County village after work crews cleared the tracks of wreckage from a derailment.

Four tank cars containing ethylene oxide and ammonium chloride burst into flames following the derailment early Saturday and some 500 persons located downwind from the scene were evacuated because of toxic fumes being given off by the fire.

The fires were allowed to burn

themselves out and the residents returned to their homes Saturday night.

Most of the people evacuated went to homes of friends or relatives. Only a few took shelter at nearby Licking Valley High School, where they watched a girls basketball game and a wrestling tournament.

Firemen and equipment from six departments went to the scene, but there was little they could do besides leading the evacuation and hosing down the derailed cars to keep the fire from spreading.

Area mobile home destroyed by fire

A mobile home near Mount Sterling was completely destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon after the owner

attempted to thaw frozen water pipes with a welder.

Jerry V. Smith, 11203 U.S. 62-NE, told Fayette County sheriff's deputies that he had connected the welder to a pipe under the sink of the mobile home. When he started the welder, Smith said straw around the pipe ignited.

The Mount Sterling Fire Department was able to contain the fire to the mobile home and kept it from spreading to a new home which is being constructed by Smith.

Frozen water pipes brought the Washington C.H. Fire Department to 1017 E. Paint St. Sunday night when an electric welder overheated.

Norman Dale was attempting to thaw the pipes with the welder when the cord became hot and melted. The electricity was shut off and a major blaze was averted. Firemen reported that $50 damage was done.

Washington C.H. firemen also investigated two reports of gas leaks Saturday and one Sunday. The two reports on Saturday were determined to be sewer gas.

Natural gas was leaking from a clothes dryer at the home of George N. Finley, 823 Willard St., early Sunday morning. The leak was plugged and the Dayton Power and Light Co. was notified by firemen.

Travelers advisories were in effect for southern and central Ohio, with accumulations of two to three inches expected in the southern sections and one to two inches in central Ohio. Snow also was expected in northern counties, but with little accumulation.

Along with the snow, temperatures have improved slightly. Overnight lows fell into the upper teens and 20s, about normal for this time of year. Highs today and Tuesday were expected to reach the upper 20s with a few sections climbing above freezing. Lows tonight were expected to again be in the 20s.

A trough of low pressure from northern Lake Huron across lower Michigan and Indiana to east Texas was to move east through Ohio today, causing cloudy skies and a chance of flurries.

A chance of snow each day Wednesday through Friday and turning colder. Highs in the upper 20s and low 30s Wednesday falling into the teens Friday. Lows in the teens early Wednesday and near zero early Friday.

House fire claims

life of girl, 3

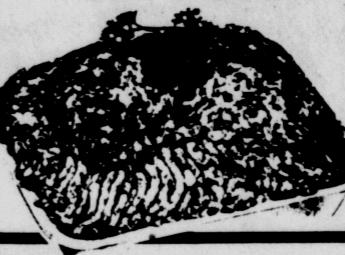

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A house fire hear early Sunday took the life of a 3-year-old girl, fire officials said.

They said Tanressa Walker died when she was unable to escape from the downstairs area where she was sleeping. Her grandmother, awakened by a dog barking at the fire, succeeded in getting seven other children out of an upstairs window, they said.

The mother of the children was in the hospital at the time having a baby, fire officials said. Cause of the fire remained under investigation. Damage was estimated at $24,600.

Of the 11,313 visitors to the Caribbean island of Aruba during October, 1976, 7,447 came from the continental United States, 2,201 from Venezuela, 612 from Columbia, 145 from Puerto Rico and 134 from Canada.

NEAR-RECORD PERFORMANCE — Art Schlichter of Moeller won the game 90-76 but Schlichter poured in 41 points, missing the school record by only one point.

Moeller crunches Trace; Schlichter pumps in 41

By MARK REA
Record-Herald Sports Editor

EBER, Ohio — Art Schlichter took some of the sting out of a 90-76 loss to Cincinnati Moeller Saturday night by scoring 41 points.

The junior guard took over the SCOL's overall scoring lead with his point total, a performance that lacked the school record by a single point. Dave Bihl scored 42 points in a game at Miami Trace against London in 1967 for the record.

Schlichter, as the Panthers, started out very slowly, scoring only four points in the first quarter. He found the range a little more in the second period, hitting nine points to increase his total to 13 for the game.

Schlichter then cooled off in the third quarter for only four points again and then put on one of the most unbelievable scoring shows in the history of Miami Trace sports.

The junior all-league candidate blazed the nets for 24 points in the fourth quarter alone, 16 on field goals and eight on free throws. He also scored the first 14 points for the Panthers in the period.

It was a good thing that Schlichter was on the floor Saturday night because he was the only thing that the sparse crowd had to cheer about.

The roof caved in early on Trace as they were behind 23-6 after the first quarter. The Panthers led 2-0 on a Schlichter layup but then watched that two-point lead turn into a 12-point deficit as Moeller reeled off 14 points in a row.

Senior center Ken Naber scored six in the Cincinnati spree while Tony Hunter contributed four. Moeller scored eight more unanswered points at the end of the quarter. Four of the points were scored by All-Ohio quarterback Tim Koegel.

The Panthers tried to regroup their forces after the disastrous fist quarter by scoring 22 points in the second frame. Schlichter pumped in nine points and senior Dan Gifford scored six.

Brant Dunn came off the bench to inspire the play of the Panthers and got a couple of rebounds in addition to five points.

On the Moeller side, they also scored 22 points to keep their 17-point advantage. Koegel and Mark Schweitzer each scored six points in the quarter while Naber and Dean Cazel each had four.

Trace fell farther behind in the third quarter as Schlichter cooled off again. The hot-handed junior, along with Gifford and David Glass, only managed four points while Miami Trace got just 14 points.

Cincinnati scored 18 more points, six by Jim Freson and four each from Koegel and Naber, to increase their lead to 63-42 after three quarters.

The fourth quarter was the biggest output for both teams as they combined for an amazing 61 points between them. Trace whipped 34 through the basket, 24 of them by Schlichter.

Moeller didn't have a bad quarter either as they scored 27 points. Hunter scored another six while Malcolm Birch scored five, all on free throws.

Schlichter scored 12 points on six quick buckets and then another two on free throws. Four more charity tosses, two field goals, and a pair of closing free throws rounded out the near-record performance of Schlichter.

Against the bigger Moeller, Trace did rather well on the boards. They pulled down 36 rebounds against a team that had no less than seven players over 6-foot-3. Gifford pulled down the most rebounds with a total of 10.

The loss sends Trace to 4-5 for the year while they remain 3-3 in SCOL play.

Hot-handed Blue Lions cakewalk Vinton County

By DONNIE SMITH
Record-Herald Sports Writer

There was ice on the roads and ice on the car windshields Saturday night, but there was no ice on the hands of the Washington C.H. Blue Lions basketball team as they simply burned the Vinton County Vikings out of the cold WSHS gym by a score of 91-62.

It wasn't much of a game from the start. The Lions jumped out to an early lead on jump shots from John Denen and Mike Turner. Turner was starting his first game of the year, replacing Terry Wilson at one of the forward positions.

Vinton County managed to knot the score several times before Washington C.H. took a sizeable lead at the end of the quarter, 22-18.

The Lions completely dominated the second period both offensively and defensively as they outscored the Vikings 25-10. The Lions caused the Vikings to make numerous errors due to their zone press defense.

The Lions managed to capitalize on almost every Viking miscue as the game was out of hand at halftime with Washington holding a 47-28 lead.

Denen put on a show for the crowd with 12 points in the third quarter and the Lions pulled even farther away. The junior center pumped in five shots from the field and added another two at the foul line to pace the Lions third quarter performance.

Twenty-four more points in that stanza gave Court House a commanding 71-42 lead after three quarters.

As the fourth quarter came into being, Lion coach Gary Shaffer began wholesale substitutions but the Vikings didn't have any more success against the Lion second-teamers than they did versus the front-liners.

They did manage to match Washington point for point, but it was too little late as the Lions cruised to an easy 91-62 non-league win.

Scoring honors in the game were shared by Denen and Mike Patterson of Vinton County. Each scored 28 points in the contest.

Two other Lions hit double figures. Dee Foster connected for 15 points while Sam McClelland scored 13. Denen also had 12 rebounds to his credit while Wilson pulled down seven boards coming off the bench.

UCLA hands out 70-65 loss

Bruin comeback too much for Irish

By KEN RAPPOPORT

AP Sports Writer

As a student of basketball, Digger Phelps enjoys the Notre Dame-UCLA basketball series.

But as a coach, he certainly did not enjoy it Sunday.

The 10th-ranked Bruins, beaten earlier in the season at Los Angeles by Phelps' Notre Dame team, made a comeback in South Bend, Ind. with a typically frenzied 70-65 victory.

The nationally televised triumph gave UCLA a split for the fourth straight year in the annual two-game series.

"This game typifies the series that we've had with UCLA," said a disappointed but appreciative Phelps. "UCLA is a class team with class people."

The lustrous intersectional rivalry has been going on for some time, but has really come into prominence in the 1970s, with the arrangement of the home-and-home series. The exciting recent games have included Notre Dame's 71-70 victory three years ago that ended the Bruins' record 88-game winning streak.

The significance of the Notre Dame game is mirrored in the thoughts of UCLA Coach Gene Bartow.

"It was my biggest win since I've been at UCLA," he said after Sunday's triumph. "The momentum just shifted to us at the right time," said Bartow. "Notre Dame had the momentum, then we had it, kept it in the second half for a while, and it changed again."

In college basketball games Saturday, second-ranked Cincinnati suffered a 78-75 upset by Tulane; No. 3 Alabama was beaten 102-93 by No. 14 Tennessee; No. 4 North Carolina defeated No. 13 Maryland 71-68; No. 5 Michigan stopped Illinois 66-61; No. 6 Kentucky blasted LSU 87-72; No. 7 Nevada-Las Vegas defeated Pepperdine 85-80; No. 8 Marquette walloped Xavier of Ohio 85-43, and No. 9 Wake Forest edged North Carolina-Charlotte 74-72.

Also, 11th-ranked Minnesota beat Wisconsin 82-64; 12th-rated Louisville routed St. Louis 74-55; No. 15 Providence trounced Boston University 83-68; No. 16 Arizona stopped Brigham Young 113-85; No. 17 Arkansas walloped Texas 86-58; No. 18 Memphis State turned back Brandeis 97-87; No.

19 Purdue whipped Michigan State 76-70, and No. 20 Syracuse outscored Pitt 96-74.

Marques Johnson scored 23 points and led a second-half surge that carried UCLA over Notre Dame. The Irish, trailing by 12 points midway through the second half, rallied behind Duck Williams and held a three-point lead with two minutes left before two straight baskets by the 6-foot-7 Johnson put the Bruins ahead to stay.

Hillsboro defeats Greenfield; Madison Plains drops pair

Hillsboro became victorious in the South Central Ohio League battle for the basement as they tripped Greenfield McClain down the steps into the cellar.

The Indians stopped the Tigers 67-56 Saturday night in a rescheduled game. In other weekend action, Madison Plains dropped a pair to non-league opponents. They lost Friday night to Greenview 51-50 and then Saturday night to Mechanicsburg 42-39.

The third quarter was the demise for Greenfield as they got outscored 25-8.

Tim Fuller was the leading scorer for Hillsboro with 30 points but McClain's Chuck Cole took game scoring honors with 32 points.

For Plains, it wasn't enough defense against Greenview and not enough offense against Mechanicsburg.

The Eagles couldn't hold on to a slim 36-35 third quarter lead and let the game slip out of their grasp on Friday night.

On Saturday evening, the Plains big guns were held down by a sticky Mechanicsburg defense.

Gary Self and Doug Sifrit led Plains on Friday night with 13 and 11 points but then scored only nine points between them on Saturday night.

The WEEDERS GUIDE

By EARL ARONSON
 AP Newsfeatures

If you garden in the South you can go to your favorite shop right now and pick up seeds of the four All-America vegetable selections for 1977 and four new all-American flower choices. If you plant in the North you'll have to wait until spring, which seems a long way off just now.

The four outstanding vegetables are: cabbage Savoy Ace, hybrid, gold medal winner; spinach Melody, hybrid, silver medal; squash Scalloppini, hybrid, bronze medal, and pumpkin Spirit, hybrid, bronze medal.

The flowers, all bronze medal winners, are: geranium Showgirl, hybrid; marigold Primrose Lady, hybrid; marigold Yellow Galore, hybrid; and petunia Blushing Maid, hybrid.

Here's what they are all about:

THE PARTY'S OVER!

Yes, the holidays are over, and it is time to settle down and get that home that you have been dreaming of.

A comfortable, all masonry ranch, located at 1290 Dayton Avenue among other quality residential property.

It boasts a modern kitchen (lots of new cabinets), bright dining area with good view, lovely living room with raised hearth wood burning fireplace, three ample sized bedrooms with double closets, two baths, and attached garage.

The natural gas forced air furnace keeps you cozy this time of year and the brick and stone exterior will take very little of your time to maintain.

Don't wait till it's too late, drive over and see this . . . today. Betty Scott 335-6046 or Tom Mossbarger 335-1756.

New York residents held for car theft

An 18-year-old New York man and two juveniles, ages 14 and 15, are being held by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department on charges of auto theft.

Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson reported that the three residents of New York are being held on charges filed by the West Seneca, N.Y., Police Department.

Thompson said that Deputy David Krupla was on routine patrol in Jeffersonville Sunday afternoon when he noticed a 1971 model Ford bearing New York license plates.

Deputy Krupla followed the vehicle on Main Street in the village and radioed to the sheriff's department for a stolen-vehicle check. The office reported back to Krupla that the vehicle had been stolen.

Sgt. John Emrick was contacted to assist Deputy Krupla in apprehending the three suspects.

West Seneca, N.Y. authorities were contacted and arrangements are being made to transport Michael D. McMillan and the two juveniles back to New York.

Sheriff's deputies also investigated a report of a stolen mailbox over the weekend.

David Burlile, 62, of 355 Bogus Road, told sheriff's deputies that the mailbox, valued at $15, was found missing Saturday afternoon. The damaged mailbox was found on Bogus Road.

The Washington C.H. Police Department investigated an alleged illegal firearm incident early Sunday.

Timothy M. Hecker, 18, of 912 Dayton Ave., said he was arguing with a man on Madison Avenue at 12:10 a.m. Sunday, when the man pulled a shotgun from his vehicle and pointed it at Hecker. The man then placed the gun back in his vehicle.

No arrests have been made.

Arthritis, Rheumatism Sufferers! Time Proven ICY-HOT PUTS PAIN TO SLEEP "Without taking Pills"

If you're one of the many, many folks who have "tried everything"—taken pills by the thousand, capsules until you've gagged on them, spoonfuls of evil-tasting liquids until you can't stand the sight of your medicine cabinet; then, it's time you get ICY-HOT!

ICY-HOT has been making friends for just about 50 years.

You don't "take" ICY-HOT. Instead you just rub its creamy balm over the affected joints or muscles. That's all there is to it. ICY-HOT must get you the results you want—blessed temporary relief from the pain of arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, soreness, stiffness. You begin to sleep peacefully again. You can actually feel the pain lessening. If you don't have relief in 24 hours, we'll return your money.

Yes, you must be 100% thrilled with the speed with which ICY-HOT puts pain to sleep, or we'll return the purchase price without question. $3.00 for 3 1/2 oz. jar, or $5.00 for 7 oz. jar.

Commission clerk resigns from post

Mrs. Janet Pope has resigned her position as clerk of the Fayette County Board of Commissioners after receiving a dissenting vote on her reappointment to the position.

Mrs. Pope, who has been the clerk since October of 1973, submitted a letter of resignation last week to the Fayette County Commissioners.

"I received a dissenting vote on my appointment as clerk to the Fayette County Commissioners for the year 1977," she wrote. "For this reason I can not work under these conditions and cannot do justice to you (commissioners) and the taxpayers of Fayette County knowing that my presence and work is not satisfactory to one commissioner for whatever reason he gave the dissenting vote."

The dissenting vote from the three-member board came from Laurence

A portion of Ohio 41-S was closed for about 35 minutes early Monday following a train derailment, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported.

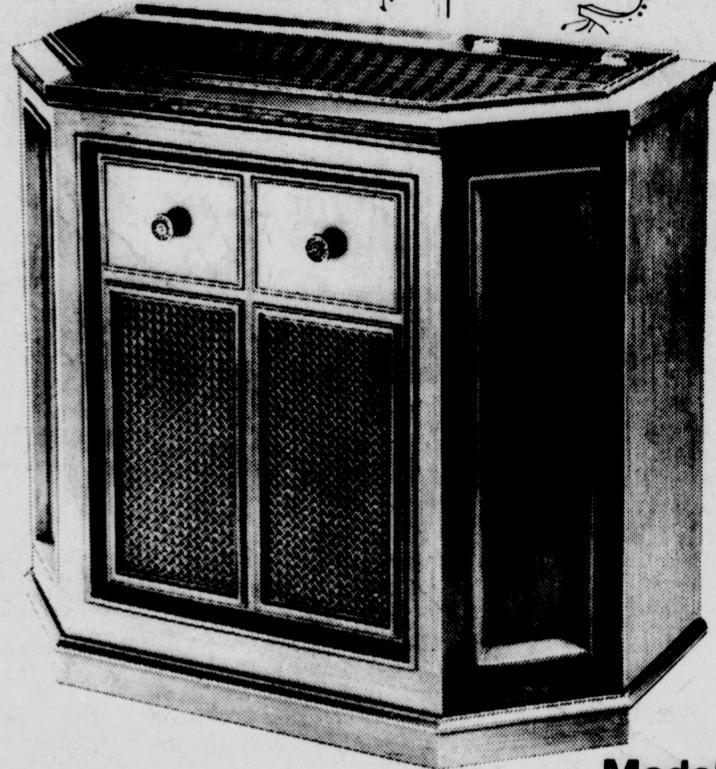

At 1:48 a.m. Monday, the Fayette Sheriff's Department received a report from the Greenfield Police Department that a semi tractor-trailer rig was blocking the roadway about four miles north of Greenfield near Ghormley Road on Ohio 41-S.

Deputy David Souther was dispatched to the scene and upon arriving he found an emergency crew from the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad Co. unloading equipment from the semi tractor-trailer rig in the area.

Approximately 15 cars derailed. There were no injuries and the DT&I emergency crew was still working near the scene at 7 a.m. Monday.
